Sidhu drops out, stunned Gandhis stuck in big mess

His loyalists, too, put in their papers; setback for Priyanka who was his biggest supporter

HARPREET BAJWA & RICHA SHARMA @ Chandigarh/New Delhi

TWO months after taking over as Punjab Congress president, Navjot Singh Sidhu on Tuesday suddenly announced his resignation, pushing the party into a crisis months ahead of Assembly elections. Hours later, cabinet minister Razia Sultana and two state congress office bearers also stepped down in support of Sidhu. The cricketer-turned-politician's resignation came soon after the allocation of portfolios to the members of the state cabinet led by Chief Minister Charanjit Singh Channi.

According to sources, Sidhu was upset as most of his suggestions were ignored. "The collapse of a man's character stems from the compromise corner. I can never compromise on Punjab's future... I hereby resign... Will continue to serve the Congress," read Sidhu's resignation letter addressed to Congress president Sonia Gandhi.

Sources said the decision has not gone down well with Sonia and Rahul Gandhi, who are trying to handle the situation tactically, keeping in mind upcoming Assembly elections. It is also considered a setback for Congress general secretary Priyanka Gandhi-Vadra, who pushed for Sidhu's elevation as PCC chief.

"I will talk to Sidhu and sort out the differences if any... If he is upset about any thing, it will be settled," said Channi.

AICC general-secretary K C Venugopal sought to play down the development, saying, "All will be ok in Punjab Congress. Sidhu's reaction is emotional." However, many other senior leaders feel that no olive branch should be extended to Sidhu.

Former Punjab CM Capt Amarinder Singh termed Sidhu's resignation a sheer drama. Singh said his former cabinet colleague was preparing the ground to quit the Congress and join hands with another political party in the run-up to the state Assembly polls. "I had been saying all along that this man is unstable and dangerous, and cannot be entrusted with the task of running Punjab," said Amarinder, adding that Sidhu was an incompetent minister in his government.

WHAT MIFFED HIM

Sidhu was miffed as deputy CM Sukhjinder Singh Randhawa was given the Home portfolio

Mood swings on the cricket ground too

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

FORMER chief minister Amarinder Singh had an I-told-you-so moment as news broke of arch enemy Navjot Singh Sidhu resigning as head of the Punjab Congress unit. "I've known this boy since his childhood. He has been a loner and can never be a team player," he remarked, adding, "That's what his real character is."

Going by Tuesday's tantrum, Amarinder appeared to be spot on in describing his rival. It's well known that Sidhu returned home midway through the Test tour of England in 1996 following differences with the then India captain Mohammad Azharuddin. Right through his playing days, including an international career that spanned nearly 16 years, Sidhu was never part of the leadership group. While his temperament was seen as a reason, his teammates also felt he was never the one to take responsibility. P9

State gives ₹2,500-cr boost to Upper Krishna Project

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

TO give a push to the Upper Krishna Project (UKP), the State Government on Tuesday decided to provide an additional allocation of ₹2,500 crore for land acquisition and to shift all offices of Krishna Bhagya Jala Nigam Ltd (KBJNL) from Bengaluru to Almatti.

After reviewing the project with Water Resources Minister Govind Karjol and senior officers, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said they decided to provide ₹2,500 crore this year for resettlement and rehabilitation of villagers.

Shifting all KBJNL offices to Almatti, filling up vacant posts, appointing additional staff to expedite the land acquisition process, shifting legal experts from Legal Cell at the head office in Bengaluru to UKP office in Bagalkot and appointing a special government advocate to handle land acquisition cases at Dharwad and Kalaburagi bench of Karnataka HC were some major decisions taken.

To ensure that water from the UKP I and II stages reach tail-end farmers, the government will rework and modernise field irrigation channels, Bommai said. P4

KANHAIYA JOINS CONGRESS TO SAVE IT

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

CPI leader Kanhaiya Kumar on Tuesday joined the Congress, saying the country can't be saved if the oldest party in the land is not. Independent Gujarat MLA and Dalit leader Jignesh Mevani did not formally join because of a technicality, but announced he will contest the Assembly elections on a Congress ticket.

"I have decided to join the country's oldest party and democratic party because I feel along with the lakhs of youths that if the Congress is not saved, the country will not be saved," Kanhaiya said. "The country is in danger. We need the courage of Bhagat Singh, equality of Ambedkar and unity of Mahatma Gandhi," he added.

Kanhaiya's induction could create some unease with the RJD, its bigger alliance partner in Bihar, given he and Tejashwi Yadav don't share good vibes. The Congress is looking to give Kanhaiya a big role in Bihar, one reason why it withheld its organisational reshuffle in the state. Some Congress leaders, too, were upset, wondering why a Left-leaning youth leader had been inducted.

Kanhaiya resigned from the CPI earlier in the day with the party's general secretary D Raja saying that the former had expelled himself from the party.

Not again! Residents rush out, quarters collapse

Cracks appeared the previous night, wary inmates called in engineers, vacated shaky building; nine families had miraculous escape

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A day after a three-storey building collapsed in Lakkasandra, the dilapidated quarters of the Bangalore Milk Union Ltd (BAMUL) employees, located near Dairy Circle, collapsed around 9.25am on Tuesday.

Nine families had a miraculous escape as they ran out to safety sensing danger, after cracks appeared rapidly and the building looked shaky.

The G+2 building was constructed more than 35 years ago. The first and second floors crushed the ground floor of J4 block, which has three houses on each floor, and collapsed, minutes after the residents rushed out.

Balakrishna, who had lived on the first floor of the building for 20 years, told TNIE, "As my wife had gone to our village, I was alone at home. At 8.30am, I went to have breakfast at my daughter's house nearby, when I got a call from my neighbour saying the building was shaking, and asking me to come immediately. I rushed to see that all the inmates had come down. Within minutes, the first and second floors collapsed on to the ground floor. I was so shocked, my legs just gave way."

Another resident, Keshava Murthy, said they were worried since Monday night, as cracks were appearing and the ceiling was flaking. "One of the families living on the ground floor left last night itself, sensing danger. In the morning, engineers were called in. Around 8.30am, the inmates were asked to leave the building. We hurriedly left our houses, leaving our things behind, and the building collapsed within an hour," Murthy said.

Manjunath, who had vacated the house on the second floor about six months ago after retirement, had come to see what had happened. "Nobody anticipated that it will collapse. When we were living here, problems were attended to immediately. But the roof leaked whenever it rained, and it was growing dilapidated."

BAMUL has made arrangements for residents rendered homeless to stay in vacant houses in other blocks in the quarters. The incident has created fear among the 185 families living here, as all the buildings are in a similar condition. Fire & Emergency department officials said work to remove debris will commence on Wednesday. The staff also rescued two pets from the building after the collapse.

House owner arrested

Adugodi police arrested Suresh, owner of the three-storey building that collapsed in Lakkasandra on Tuesday. Suresh was booked for negligence and endangering the lives of others.

'SUBMIT REPORT ON UNSAFE BUILDINGS IN 30 DAYS'

BENGALURU: In the wake of the rising cases of building collapse or cracks, Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta on Tuesday said that directions have been issued to zonal and joint commissioners to submit old reports of all vulnerable and dilapidated buildings of the city within two days. Speaking to the media, he said that a time of 30 days has been given to complete the survey of all the sites in the city and submit a report. Gupta said that he has called for a meeting of the officials on Wednesday to take stock of the situation. Asked if there are 194 dilapidated sites in the city as per the 2019 survey, Gupta said that the numbers need to be ascertained and for this, a meeting has been called. He also accepted when it was pointed out that some structures need attention like the Shanthinagar PWD quarters, Chamarajpet police quarters, pourakarmikas quarters near the Corporation. "These kinds of incidents should not happen, so I have asked the officials to submit a report within 30 days. I am also told that notices were served. The status of the notices and follow up actions are also being ascertained from the officials," Gupta said.

HOW BUILDINGS ARE CHECKED

Surveyors will analyse construction material used, original plan approval records, deviations, excavation and foundation, setbacks, ventilation, seepages, exit and entry points

The Vulnerability Atlas also checks if structures are thatched roof huts, concrete buildings, whether they are vulnerable to flooding or heavy rain or lightning

BBMP has no data on vulnerable buildings

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE BBMP has not maintained a detailed dossier of vulnerable and dilapidated buildings in the city.

An official from the BBMP Disaster Management Cell said that around 194 buildings were found to be in bad condition in 2019, but the BBMP declared there were 178 high-risk buildings in the city.

"The survey of all structures in Bengaluru was to be taken up by the engineering and town planning sections of BBMP. But it stopped after a few buildings were surveyed because of lack of seriousness among officials and the Covid outbreak. Buildings that are over 20-50 years old should be checked as most of them are occupied by economically weaker sections," the official said. The survey work was handed over to joint commissioners, who passed it on to assistant executive engineers and then to ward engineers, and was left at that. After a fire broke out at an apartment in Devarachikkanahalli, BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta issued an order, stating that the 2016 National Building Guidelines should be complied with.

"How can the guidelines be adhered to? BBMP, Bescom, BWSSB and fire department don't coordinate with each other to conduct a field survey before giving the clearance. That is why building plans are violated and buildings collapse. The authorities should be thankful that no casualties have been reported in the two building collapse incidents. But no one is talking about the condition of roads leading to these residential complexes. They are not suitable for fire vehicles or ambulances," the official said.

The Bengaluru deputy commissioner's office has listed 6,077 illegal layouts in Bengaluru and officials think most buildings in these layouts will be in a bad condition. "In the draft disaster document being prepared, flood-prone, low-lying, fire-prone and other such areas were being included. But now it has to include buidings too," said a senior official from the Bengaluru DC's office.

Ex-mayor slams BBMP for not paying contract staff

ENS @Bengaluru

FORMER mayor NR Ramesh on Tuesday accused BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta of not clearing wages of contract employees, and being partial in releasing funds, besides money swindling.

After submitting a memorandum to Gupta, Ramesh told the media that money was given to select agencies and people at his discretion, and not as per the law. He also accused the BBMP of failing to pay staff employed on contract basis, for many months.

Reacting to this, the BBMP was quick to release a clarification, stating, "Despite the pandemic in the last three months, Rs 909.52 crore has been given for various projects, and from April 2021 till date, Rs 625.52 crore has been released. This week, Rs 289 crore was released for various works." It also states that money released this year is more than what was issued during the same period earlier.

As per the statement, Rs 441.56 crore was released till April 2021 and from April 2021 to date, Rs 245.22 crore was released. It also stated that all bills pertaining to Covid Care Centres (CCCs), cremation, hospitals, dialysis centres, drinking water facility and other such works have been paid.

Rail Wheel Factory sets up STP for colony

BENGALURU: The Rail Wheel Factory in Yelahanka is in the process of setting up a Sewage Treatment Plant (STP) in its housing colony (West Colony). It can treat up to 2 lakh litres of sewage water. According to an official release, the colony is spread over 66 acres, with 936 houses and service buildings. "All machinery for setting up this plant has been installed. The work of pipeline laying and collection tank is nearing completion. It is likely to be commissioned shortly," it said. The consumption of potable water in the colony will be reduced, thanks to this initiative, the release said. "The treated water from the STP shall be used for non-drinking purposes." it added.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

29th September: It's our third day looking at Taurus. Taureans have a reputation for being pleasant, good-natured people. Actually, it's not always so. They can lose their tempers! However, the good thing about them is that they are usually easily placated. Their natural state is one of goodwill to all people.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You should pay more attention to financial matters, but realise that personal possessions are not everything. If you are hatching a money-making scheme or plotting a sensible purchase, you have about twenty-four hours. That's unless you want to put things off until next week.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Take control and get back in the driving-seat. Lunar alignments should give you the idea that with just a little effort, you will come a step closer to achieving a cherished dream. And if that doesn't work, perhaps someone you have always respected will give you the necessary nudge.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
If you are alternating between great enthusiasm and a feeling that life is all against you, you're doing something wrong. You may use the power of your mind to temper excitement with caution and qualify pessimism with hope. It's all a matter of finding the right balance.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You should be able to begin to relax and enjoy better social contacts. There is still a fair amount of tension, and it would be unrealistic to expect this to dissipate, but it shouldn't reduce the potential for pleasure. In fact, you will soon discover still more ways to enjoy yourself!

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Over the next twenty-four hours you will find it difficult to compromise. However, if only for your own sake, there will be situations when it will be by far the most sensible thing to find a middle path. Just because somebody else is stuck in their ways, that is no reason for you not to change.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Take advantage of Venus' charming relationship with Jupiter to raise the romantic temperature. The only snag could be the tendency for your expectations to spiral out of control, which could mean they'll be impossible to satisfy. One good way to start is by meeting others' needs rather than your own.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The romantic situation is dominated by secrecy. There is nothing wrong with keeping your feelings to yourself, for it may be that other people are just not ready to hear what you have to say. Be patient, and give them all the time they need to catch up.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You have done everything expected of you, and more. The pleasant news is that your horoscope is rapidly becoming very much more relaxed, and the only likely hitch could involve money, especially if other people are involved. Make sure you know who is paying.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Your emotional ambitions are being stirred. This means that your level of desire is going up, but the pressing question is whether your actual circumstances will allow your hopes to be satisfied. Perhaps you will be able to reach some of your goals, but leave others until later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
The Moon's major impact today is enthusiastic and ambitious, which indicates that the world is generally a compatible place, and you should feel that you're on the right track. Relationships with children and younger relatives should improve, but do please take the initiative.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Your plans will go well if you deal with fundamentals first. This means taking nothing and nobody for granted, and recognising that if a job is worth doing, it's worth doing yourself! The only question is whether you have enough time, so don't over-commit yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Take your time and spend just as long as you need to make the right choices. It's important not to be hurried, especially where work is concerned. Make a point of developing overseas links, and getting in touch with people you've not seen for far too long.

SINDAGI, HANAGAL BYPOLLS TO BE HELD ON OCTOBER 30

First big test for Bommai, more so as one of the seats is in his home turf Haveri

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

THE by-elections to the Sindagi and Hanagal Assembly constituencies will be held on October 30 and counting of votes will be taken up on November 2. Following the announcement of the dates by the Election Commission of India, political parties have kick-started their campaign to grab the two seats.

This will be first big polls in the state after Basavaraj Bommai took over as Chief Minister in July this year. Moreover, Hanagal constituency is in Haveri, the CM's home district.

The elections were necessitated after Sindagi JDS MLA M C Managuli and Hanagal BJP MLA C M Udasi passed away in January and June, respectively. While both the BJP and JDS are making all efforts to retain the seats, the Congress too is leaving no stone unturned.

Though the winning candidates will have a short stint and the numbers will not make much of a difference to the government, all three parties have taken the bypoll battle as a prestige issue.

The Congress has already announced Ashok Managuli as its candidate for Sindagi. Ashok is the son of M C Managuli and had joined the party sometime back.

Speaking to The New Indian Express, Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee working president Eshwar Khandre said that for the Hanagal seat, the names of Mane Shrinivas, who lost to Udasi in 2018, former MLA Manohar Tahasildar and a couple of others are in consideration. "KPCC president D K Shivakumar, Opposition leader in the Assembly Siddaramaiah and the party high command will decide on the candidate within two days," he said.

The JDS has already selected Niyaz Shaik to contest from Hanagal. Party leader H D Kumaraswamy said the contender for Sindagi will be finalised at the earliest.

The ruling BJP has not yet finalised the candidate for both the constituencies. There is buzz that Revathi Udasi, wife of BJP MP Shivakumar Udasi, and daughter-in-law of CM Udasi, will be fielded.

Speaking to reporters, Basavaraj Bommai on Tuesday said they will finalise the candidates soon and expressed confidence of winning both the seats. At the recent core committee meeting in Davanagere, the party leaders discussed appointing observers to both the segments. "Ultimately, the party top brass and state BJP president Nalin Kumar Kateel will take a call on this," he said.

BJP may go with collective leadership

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AS byelections to Hanagal and Sindagi Assembly constituencies will be held on October 30, the ruling BJP has planned to go with collective leadership to fight the polls.

This means that the services of former chief minister B S Yediyurappa will be used in both seats, especially Hanagal, which fell vacant following the untimely demise of former minister CM Udasi. The party may give charge of electioneering to Udasi's son and Haveri Lok Sabha member Shivakumar Udasi. Chief Minister Basavaraja Bommai will also campaign aggressively as it is his home district, party sources said.

However in Sindagi, the party feels the victory is difficult as the seat was held by JDS' MC Managuli, who died this year. The factor in play is also of his son Ashok Managuli joining Congress.

Surprisingly, BJP vice-president and Yediyurappa's son BY Vijayendra, who has been credited with bypoll victories at KR Pete and Sira, is not likely to be given electioneering responsibilities in the seats, sources said.

He may be used for elections to one of the 25 Legislative Council constituencies, for which the notification is likely on October 3, the sources said.

Vijayendra, who feels his political future lies in Mysuru region and is eyeing the Varuna Assembly seat to contest the 2023 general elections, has already chosen Mysuru MLC seat to campaign.

One of his staunch loyalists and chairman of the Devaraj Urs Development Corporation Raghu Kautilya is expected to contest from the MLC seat.

Govt firm on law against religious conversions: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Tuesday reiterated his government's stand on bringing a law against forcible religious conversions in the state.

"As many such conversions are taking place in the state, we are seriously contemplating enacting a law against forcible religious conversions," he said.

The Chief Minister said district administrations have been directed to take steps to stop religious conversions through force or inducements. "The government has taken such developments seriously and is thinking about bringing a law," he said.

During the 10-day legislature session that concluded on September 24, Home Minister Araga Jnanendra had announced that the government is considering such a law as many cases of forcible religious conversions were being reported in the state.

During the session, the ruling BJP members had urged the government to bring a law against forcible conversions on the lines of Uttar Pradesh.

BJP MLA Goolihatti Shekar had claimed that over 15,000 people in his Assembly constituency in Chitradurga district were forcibly converted to Christianity. The Home Minister had termed it as a dangerous trend across the country.

One of the accused, Jemsa (centre), argues with villagers of Neelahalli on Sunday

Four held for religious conversion bid in Yadgir

RAMKRISHNA BADSESHI @Yadgir

FOUR people, including two women, have been arrested for allegedly attempting to coax people into converting to another religion, at Neelahalli village in Yadgir taluk on Sunday.

Superintendent of Police Vedamurthy said the prime accused Jemsa, Shantaraj and Neelamma, all from Madwar in Yadgir taluk, and Mallamma of Neelahalli village, were arrested on Monday evening and remanded in judicial custody.

"The arrested were trying to coax villagers, particulary Dalits, to convert to Christianity. When some youths opposed this, Jemsa got into an argument with them and claimed to have a government order for mass conversion," sources told Express.

According to the sources, Jemsa said Dalits getting converted to Christianity was not actually "matantara" (conversion), but was "roopantara" (transformation).

When the youths asked him why he was trying to convert the villagers when the village doesn't have a church, he is believed to have said, "Now, I will make all efforts for conversion of all the villagers and they will be blessed if they change their faith."

The sources said Jemsa also declined to show the government order and instead dared them to lodge a complaint against him, warning of filing a counter-complaint. The youths lodged a complaint against the four at Saidapur police station on Sunday itself. Following rumours that the arrested were filing a counter-complaint, the youths and others staged a demonstration in front of Saidapur police station on Monday evening.

Candidate names will be out soon: DKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Congress is ready for the upcoming by-elections to Hangal and Sindagi, KPCC president D K Shivakumar said on Tuesday. The party has chosen one candidate for the bypolls, and the other will be decided shortly by central party leaders, he said. He said the Congress is one large family, and there is no discord. The decision made by AICC President Sonia Gandhi and former party president Rahul Gandhi will be final.

Shivakumar, who is in New Delhi for the organisational revamp the Congress is attempting before the 2023 elections in Karnataka, said many office-bearers were appointed about 10-12 years ago, and the party is seeking to appoint a new team since March this year. Shivakumar said he had held discussions with RS Surjewala and Mallikarjun Kharge, and the list for the new office-bearers will be ready by Ayudha Puja.

Asked about opposition leader Siddaramaiah's claims about the future Chief Minister, he said he has no information about any such statement. "While the JDS is targeting 123 seats and BJP is targeting 150 seats, the Congress is targeting 224 seats," he said.

On the issue of giving tickets to disgruntled legislators from other parties who are joining the Congress, he said a committee will look into it. Some legislators from other parties have expressed interest in joining the Congress, and this has been discussed with the central leadership.

Govt wants UKP declared nat'l project

THE two stages were aimed at irrigating 6.22 lakh hectares, but tail-end farmers are yet to get water. After completing the third stage, another 5.94 lakh hectares will be irrigated.

An official said the allocation of Rs 2,500 crore will give a big push to the project. In the budget, Rs 1,200 crore was allocated and of that, Rs 900 crore was the committed expenditure. "Resettlement and rehabilitation (R&R) for the project involves the acquisition of land in 20 villages that will completely be submerged and taking over properties in another 188 villages, which will be affected partially. Rs 2,900 crore is needed for the entire process. Now with the existing budget provision of Rs 500 crore and additional allocation of Rs 2,500 crore for R&R, the department will have required funds for R&R, which is the first priority," the official said.

In the legislative session, Water Resources Minister Govind Karjol had said the government is committed to completing the UKP project and significant progress will be made in the project during this government's tenure. While the government is making efforts to get it declared as a national project, land acquisition is a challenge as 1,33,867 acres need to be acquired for the project and the cost has increased significantly, he had said.

Vacillating JDS leaders turn up at workshop after HDK warning

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

THE second day of the four-day workshop organised by the JDS, saw improved turnout with fence-sitters and those who had lost the previous election showing up on Tuesday after former Chief Minister H D Kumaraswamy sounded a warning.

Former minister and Gubbi MLA S R Srinivas, who was among those reportedly planning to switch sides, took part in the brainstorming session and clarified that he has decided not to quit the party. He was in the spotlight with party leaders giving him an unusual welcome, specially K R Nagar MLA Sa Ra Mahesh, who has been tasked with keeping the flock together.

We will release our first list of candidates by Sankranti festival in January 2022

HD Kumaraswamy, JDS leader

Some of the leaders who had given the workshop a miss on Day 1, turned up on Tuesday after Kumaraswamy warned on Monday that he has plans to field alternative candidates. As if on cue, the party's losing candidate from Tumakuru city constituency in 2018, N Govindaraju, also keenly took part in the proceedings.

However, sources pointed out that Kumaraswamy has already identified some probables for the 2023 polls in Tumakuru district including Tumakuru City, Gubbi and Sira Assembly constituencies. "We will release our first list of candidates by Sankranti festival in January 2022", Kumaraswamy declared on Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Melukote MLA C S Puttaraju, who was also considering jumping ship, has been convinced by Sa Ra Mahesh not to leave the party fold. The party sees Mahesh as a replacement for MLA G T Devegowda in Chamundeshwari Assembly segment, as the latter has openly announced his intention to quit the JDS and join the Congress along with his son Harish Gowda.

The Congress may pitch Harish against Sa Ra Mahesh from K R Nagar if the latter contests from there, sources told TNIE.

Political analyst Sugata Srinivasaraju, who conducted the brainstorming session for the JD(S) leaders, suggested that the party should aim to pick up 37.5 per cent of the votes in 2023 to achieve its 'Mission 123+'. He also narrated some excerpts from former Prime Minister H D Deve Gowda's biography, which he is authoring and is slated to be released in November.

AAP workers stage a protest demanding the arrest of former minister Ramesh Jarkiholi in Bengaluru on Tuesday | ASHISHKRISHNA HP

Jarkiholi calls on CM, pushes for reinduction into ministry

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FORMER Water Resources Minister Ramesh Jarkiholi met Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai at the latter's residence on Monday night and held lengthy talks. Sources hinted that the Belagavi strongman brought up the issue of his reinduction into the council of ministers when the cabinet is expanded while claiming that he was the victim of a political conspiracy.

Ramesh is also believed to have conveyed to the CM that if not him, then his brother and Arabhavi MLA Balachandra Jarkiholi should be considered for a cabinet berth. The CM is expected to visit Delhi sometime next week to take up the issue of cabinet expansion as there are four vacancies. The sources added that the appointments to boards and corporations may also be finalised during the visit.

Bommai heard him out and assured him of action at the right time. But, considering that UP and other important elections are just months away, the BJP may not take any risks by reinducting him, the sources further added.

While Ramesh Jarkiholi has been lobbying hard to make a comeback into the ministry, reliable sources pointed out that it may not be easy. Dismissing any threat to the government from him, they pointed out that the party has another ST Valmiki face in B Sriramulu. Moreover, Jarkiholi will have to come clean in the CD gate and the matter is still pending before the High Court.

But the CM may not be able to shake off the Jarkiholis that easily, considering their clout in Belagavi district politics and they may push for the induction of Balachandra Jarkiholi into the ministry if Ramesh is not accommodated, the sources said.

Speculation rife after BJP Tumakuru unit chief quits

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FORMER MLA B Suresh Gowda, who on Monday night resigned as Tumakuru district BJP president in a surprise development, may have been prompted to do so due to internal pressure, sources indicated.

When contacted, Suresh, a B S Yediyurappa loyalist, said, "Everyone makes mistakes. Even in a family, a family member can make a mistake, but no one throws them out of the family. They speak to the person and rectify the mistake and keep them in the family, don't they?" he asked. But he did not venture to explain what the mistake was or at whom fingers were being pointed at.

Former chief minister Yediyurappa has not reacted to the development so far, but the sources said he is aware of Suresh's resignation from the post.

Suresh told TNIE that he resigned as president of the Tumkur district party unit as he wanted to focus on his constituency Tumkur Rural, which he lost the last time to Gowrishankar of the JDS as he had dedicated much of his time for party work and not enough for the constituency.

Recently elected BJP MLA from Sira, Dr Rajesh Gowda, in a letter said, "Deeply saddened on hearing that you have resigned from the post of Tumkur BJP president. I am not aware of your reasons... it's your personal decision. Please reconsider your decision."

Meanwhile, a Congress leader from Tumakuru claimed that Suresh might join the Congress. However, KPCC president D K Shivakumar said, "I will gather the information about this. I will not comment right now as I do not wish to embarrass Suresh or our party leader Rajanna."

Asked about him joining the Congress, Suresh said, "I had received formal invitations from them twice in the past, but I prefer to be in the BJP."

Anekal college sees Covid cluster, 60 test positive

All students being tested; parents want to take wards home

IFFATH FATHIMA @ Bengaluru

A Covid-19 cluster outbreak was reported in Sri Chaitanya PU College, in Huskur, Electronics City, with 60 students testing positive. A 17-year-old second-year PU student first contracted the virus, it was reported.

According to officials from Anekal taluk, the college reopened on September 6. The PU student, who developed cough, cold and mild fever, went to the local testing centre on Sunday, where a RAT gave a positive result. Her RT-PCR report, which came a day later, also came positive. By this time, many other students in the hostel also started showing symptoms and tests were performed on the same day. At least 24 students who underwent RAT tested positive, while the rest took RT-PCR test.

Taluk Health Officer Dr Vinay Kumar said, "Of 550 students in the college, we tested 300, and 60 came positive. Tests are being done on other students living in other blocks too, which include first-year PU students. The campus is declared a containment zone, and we have shut the college for 14 days."

Asked if the students had a travel history, Dr Vinay said, "College reopened on September 6, and all students have attended classes since then. Some came from their home towns in Tamil Nadu before September 6. As the time-frame of students testing positive is large, we cannot say it is due to travel history. But we are checking."

Among the 60 patients, 30 were found to have symptoms, and medical professionals from Vimlalaya Hospital in Huskur are keeping tabs on the students and providing medication.

Meanwhile, a college staffer said there was utter chaos on campus as many parents came to college asking to take their children home, especially those whose children tested positive. "Since some of the students are from different districts and states, they live in hostels. On learning about the outbreak, parents are asking us to send them back. The District Surveillance Officer will take a call whether they can go back," said a staffer.

In early September, two cluster cases were reported in BBMP city limits -- 34 students tested positive in a Horamavu nursing college, and 24 students contracted the virus in Dhanavantri Nursing College.

"It is important for district health officers to keep a tab on the clusters and not let them spread. Efficient management is necessary," said a member of the Covid Task Force.

CORONA COMPENSATION

KIN OF DECEASED TO GET ₹1.5 LAKH

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE State Government on Tuesday issued revised guidelines for enhanced payment of ex-gratia compensation to families of Covid-19 dead after the Centre announced its component to be paid through the State Disaster Response Fund (SDRF).

While Below Poverty Line (BPL) families will get Rs 1 lakh compensation under Karnataka's Sandhya Suraksha Scheme (SSS), Rs 50,000 will be paid through the SDRF as per Central government guidelines on providing compensation to families of the Covid-19 dead, regardless of their economic status.

As per the revised guidelines, BPL families can claim Rs 1,50,000 if they have lost one person to Covid-19. In case two people have died in a family, that family can claim an amount of Rs 2,00,000, as the Centre's component allows Rs 50,000 per dead individual to be claimed by the deceased's family.

As per the guidelines, to claim the compensation from the state's SSS or the Centrally-sponsored SDRF, the Covid deceased's family should produce a valid death certificate which states that the person died due to Covid-19.

For claiming the compensation under the state's SSS, the victim should have been an earning member of the family and above 18 years of age. The family members must produce a medical certificate or a certificate issued by Covid-19 Death Ascertaining Committee.

Families which do not have death certificates or relevant documents, can approach the deputy commissioners in their respective districts while making their ex-gratia claims.

On Tuesday, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai clarified that there would be no change in the government's decision to provide Rs 1 lakh compensation under SSS to help poor families who have lost earning members to Covid-19. Karnataka was among the first states to announce compensation, but the State Government faced criticism over the delay in payments.

Put on hold for pandemic, paediatric heart surgeries on the rise

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

NEARLY 8,000 paediatric cardiac surgeries have been conducted between May and September 2021 in Karnataka. According to data collected by TNIE from various private hospitals, Sanjeevani Hospitals alone performed 4,200 child heart surgeries, and Jayadeva Hospital conducted 500 paediatric surgeries.

Many patients, both paediatric and adult, had to keep cardiac treatment in abeyance due to Covid-19. Doctors claim there was a reduction of nearly 75 per cent in elective surgeries due to the lockdown, restrictions in inter-district travel to tertiary care centres in major cities, and also financial constraints.

"Many poor and needy children, who were vulnerable to both Congenital Heart Disease and Covid, had to wait for their surgeries due to the pandemic," explained Dr Snehal Kulkarni, head of Paediatric Cardiology, Sri Sathya Sai Sanjeevani Group of Hospitals.

Medical students and doctors hold posters and heart specimen on the eve of the World Heart Day on Tuesday | EXPRESS

Doctors explain that Child Heart Disease (CHD) is one of the most common reasons for high mortality rate among children, and a study done in 2018, which was published in the Lancet, showed that Karnataka is one of the states with the highest number of children born with CHD every year. Without medical or surgical care, over 25 per cent of these children die before their first birthday.

Stressing on the need for early diagnosis of cardiac problems, Dr Manjunath CN, Director, Jayadeva Institute of Cardiovascular Diseases, insists that paediatricians play a major role, and recognition of early symptoms like recurrent cough, fever, failure to gain weight, have to be taken as hints to check for heart ailments in a child.

HC asks govt to reconsider order on Baba Budangiri

Says it is violation of rights of both Hindu and Muslim communities

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Tuesday quashed an order passed by the state government in 2018, authorising only the Muzawar appointed by Shah Khadri to perform daily rituals at the sanctum sanctorum of the Sree Dattatreya Bababudan Swamy Dargah (Baba Budangiri shrine) at Chikkamagaluru.

The government order had prescribed religious practices and worship to be followed to distribute 'teertha' to both Hindus and Muslims. The Muzawar was also required to offer flowers to the paduka and light nandadeepa.

Till now, Hindu priests are allowed to offer pooja only during the Datta Jayanti celebration. Pro-Hindu outfits, including VHP, Bajrang Dal and Sri Guru Dattatreya Peeta Devasthana Samvardhana Samithi, have been demanding appointment of a permanent Hindu priest to the Peeta for several years. The court remitted the matter to the state government with a direction to reconsider the order in accordance with law without referring to the report by a high-level committee.

Allowing a petition filed by the Sri Guru Dattatreya Peeta Devasthana Samvardhana Samithi, Justice PS Dinesh Kumar quashed the government order dated March 19, 2018, saying it is unsustainable in law.

"The Article 25 of the Constitution guarantees Freedom of Conscience and free profession, practice and propagation of religion. By the impugned order, the State has infringed upon the right of Hindu community to have the pooja and archana done in the manner as per their faith. Secondly, the State imposed upon the Mujawar to perform 'paduka pooja' and to light 'nanda deepa' contrary to his faith. Both these acts amount to flagrant violation of rights of both communities guaranteed by Article 25 of the Constitution," the court said.

It also noted that the endowment commissioner had gathered versions of a large number of devotees, which demonstrated that both Hindus and Muslims were worshipping as per their respective customs. But the State chose to accept the high-level committee's recommendations, while rejecting the endowment commissioner's report. The petitioner moved the court against the order and sought directions to the government to implement the endowment commissioner's report dated March 10, 2010. This report was submitted before the Supreme Court suggesting that a Hindu archak be appointed to perform daily poojas. In response, the state government appointed the high-level committee consisting of a former judge of the high court.

ACB nabs towing staffer for bribery

Bengaluru: A towing staffer attached to the Jayanagar traffic police station was trapped by officers of the Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB), while accepting a bribe of Rs 800 to release a two-wheeler. An ACB official said the complainant had gone to JP Nagar on Saturday and parked his scooter in front of a hotel. The vehicle was towed away to Jayanagar traffic police station. When he went there, the accused, Siddegowda, sought Rs 800 as bribe to release the vehicle, the official added.

Man posing as tax official arrested

Bengaluru: A person who allegedly extorted money from truck drivers and owners posing as a commercial tax officer has been arrested by the Central Crime Branch (CCB) police. The accused has been identified as Channappa, a resident of Rajajinagar. Police said they had received information that a person posing as a commercial tax officer stood on highways and stopped goods vehicles, and collected money from truck drivers and owners. The accused has been arrested.

153 plaints of medical negligence lodged in 1.5 yrs

RANJANI MADHAVAN
@ Bengaluru

IN the last one-and-half years, the Karnataka Medical Council (KMC) has received 153 complaints pertaining to medical negligence and professional misconduct. While 88 complaints were received in 2020, 65 plaints were logged in 2021 until the month of August.

Preliminary explanations were sought from 84 respondents or hospitals on new complaints. However, all complaints were kept pending for the last one year due to a council election writ petition filed before the Karnataka High Court.

According to elected members, this lack of complaint redressal has affected patients and doctors alike.

"KMC looks into cases of professional medical negligence. If we give judgement in favour of a patient, they can move court for compensation. Without any judgement the past year, patients have had a difficult time. With respect to doctors, false allegations left unsettled lead to mental torture. Feeling miserable, many abandon their practice," said Dr Ravi N, Professor, Bangalore Medical College and Research Institute and elected member of KMC.

Another elected member said that clearing pending complaints when the council becomes functional will be time-consuming.

"Patients come to us seeking justice, but what can be done when we cannot go forward. Some may have lost their loved ones. If they directly approach courts and it turns out to be a false allegation, doctors unnecessarily get stuck in the legal process," the member said on condition of anonymity.

KERALA POLICE ASK GOVT TO BAN CIRCULATION OF 'BOOK OF JIHAD'

Govt forms three-member committee to scrutinise contents of the Arabic text

SHAN A S @ T'Puram

THE police department has asked the state government to ban the circulation of 14th-century Arabic text 'Mashari al-Ashwaq Ila Masari al-Ushaaq', better known as the 'book of jihad', which allegedly motivates youngsters to join terrorist organisations. Following the request, the government has formed a three-member committee to scrutinise its content.

The committee headed by PRD Director S Harikishore also consists of Internal Security IG G Sparjan Kumar and National University for Advanced Legal Studies former vice-chancellor N K Jayakumar.

Former state police chief Loknath Behera in 2020 and incumbent chief Anil Kant in July this year had recommended a ban on the circulation of the book on all platforms, including on social media. They had written to the government that the book contains extremist literature and lures youth into extremism. It was also said that the text has been motivating youngsters to get embedded with international terror outfits, including the Islamic State.

Mashari al Ashwaq is a medieval text written by Damascene scholar Ahmad Ibrahim Muhammad al Dimashqi al Dumyati, popularly known as Ibn Nuhaas. He is said to have been killed while fighting the Byzantine army in 1411.

The IS sympathisers in Kerala had, meanwhile, brought out the book's Malayalam translation, which was named as 'Vijayathinte Vathil Vaalinte Thanalil', and circulated online.

The book largely remained obscure till it was picked up by Egyptian Islamist leader Sayyid Qutb. Its literature has been used by the propaganda machinery of various militant and terror outfits since then. Al Qaeda's US-Yemeni ideologue Anwar Al Awlaki's audio rendition of the book made it famous among international jihadi elements. However, Ibn Nuhaas' works got the biggest push after the onset of Islamic State. The IS literature and online campaigns generously quoted from the book which, over a period of time, have grown into a classical text.

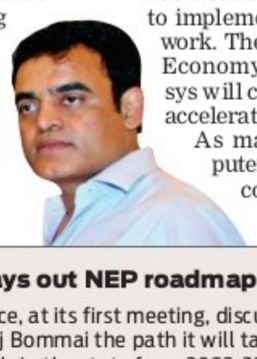
Infy, govt to promote skilling under NEP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

IT giant Infosys and the Department of Higher Education have decided to sign three Memorandums of Understanding (MoUs) to promote skill-based learning among college students as part of the National Education Policy (NEP).

The decision was taken at a meeting chaired by Higher Education Minister Dr CN Ashwath Narayan with Infosys officials on Tuesday.

Narayan said students will have access to over 3,000 skill development courses available on the Infosys Springboard, which is an integrated digital literacy platform comprising effective digital learning solutions, technology-based life skill courses, gamification, live classes, industry certification, makers' lab and career guidance.



Other platforms on the anvil for colleges are 'Campus Connect' for digital learning of college faculty and professional guidance for students.

It will also involve gesture computing and biometrics in smart classrooms, use of virtual reality and augmented reality to train students, linking learning data with performance outcomes, the use of gamification and design principles to create healthy competition among students, and automation and robotic tools to create content, he said.

An 'NEP community' will also be set up to facilitate exchange of best practices among institutions, he said, and added that institutions will be guided to implement the NEP framework. The Karnataka Digital Economy Mission and Infosys will collaborate for talent acceleration, he said.

As many as 15,000 computers will be donated to colleges by Infosys.

Task force lays out NEP roadmap for schools

The NEP task force, at its first meeting, discussed with Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai the path it will take to implement the policy for schools in the state from 2022-23. "We should start NEP among children of 0, 6, and 9 years of age, for which structural and academic changes have to be done," said Primary and Secondary Education Minister BC Nagesh, adding that decisions on policy implementation are still at a nascent stage. Schools for students of "zero years" would be called pre-LKG or Balavatikas, he said. The chief minister too set some targets and the department will work according to them, he said.

Four, including two Iranians, held for growing ganja

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Central Crime Branch (CCB) police have arrested four suspects, including two Iranians, and have seized hydro ganja worth over Rs 1 crore. The accused ordered ganja seeds on the dark web and grew the hydro ganja at a rented villa in Bidadi.

Javad Rostampour Ghotb Aldin (34) of Eagleton Golf Village and Shir Mohammadi Barogh (35) of Kaveri Nagar, both from Iran's capital Tehran; and Mohammed Mohsin Uz Zaman (31) of Hegde Nagar and Mohsin Khan (30) of Frazer Town have been arrested. Two others, Pratheek Jain and Jitendra Jain, are absconding.

Police said the four were arrested following a tipoff that four persons had come in a car to sell drugs at Kaveri Nagar in DJ Halli. When questioned, they revealed that they ordered hydro ganja seeds on the dark web and grew the contraband using scientific methods and devices such as UV lights and LED lamps at a rented villa in Eagleton Gold Village. They also procured LSD strips on the dark web and sold the contraband to students, businessmen, and IT professionals.

"Investigation revealed that the two Iranians were staying illegally in the city, despite the expiry of their visas. Aldin was earlier arrested by the Narcotics Control Bureau and was named in two cases. We have seized 12.850 kg of hydro ganja, LSD strips, and ganja worth Rs 1 crore," police said.

Coast sees spike in moral policing cases

Five Bajrang Dal activists held, released on bail

Mangaluru: The Mangaluru city police arrested and later released on bail five Bajrang Dal activists in a case of 'moral policing' that took place near the Surathkal tollgate in the city on Sunday evening. In a video that has gone viral, the Bajrang Dal activists are seen blocking an SUV carrying MBBS students of a private medical college in Mangaluru, yelling at its occupants and also trying to assault them even as boys and girls looked frightened. Mangaluru North Traffic Police Inspector Mohammed Shariff, who was passing on the same route, intervened and stopped the situation from going out of control. A complaint filed by one of the affected students, Savio T Alphonse, stated that he and his two friends, Vijay and Shamila, were returning from a picnic at Malpe beach when some bike-borne men waylaid their four-wheeler near Surathkal tollgate at 6.30 pm. They asked for their names and addresses and then assaulted them. Police Commissioner N Shashikumar said the accused told cops that they were tipped off by some people.

Home minister condems incidents

Home Minister Araga Jnanendra condemned the increasing incidents of moral policing in the coastal district. Jnanendra said tht it has come to his notice and he will take steps to ensure that such cases do not recur in future. Condemning the incident, he warned that the government will take stringent action against those taking law into their hand.

VINCENT D'SOUZA @ Mangaluru

AT LEAST 21 incidents of 'moral policing' have come to light in Dakshina Kannada and Udupi so far in the year 2021, in which friends from different faiths travelling or hanging together were harassed or attacked by members of right-wing vigilante groups in the name of love jihad.

In fact, the frequency of such incidents has increased in the last few months. Ironically, unlike in a moral policing incident that took place in Sadduguntepalya police limits in Bengaluru on September 17 in which the police arrested two accused after filing a suo-motu case, the coast did not witness such swift action by cops in similar incidents. No case was filed with respect to more than half of the incidents that came to light (despite video evidence) stating that no one lodged a complaint. Even with regard to incidents in which FIRs were filed, the action followed a few days after the incident and that too mostly after the media took it up vigorously.

Generally, in such cases, the harassment of victims does not stop with the intervention of police. The cops after escorting the victims to the police station from the troublesome spot, summon their parents and ask them to 'discipline' their wards. Such a behaviour of cops discourages the real victims to come forward and lodge a complaint against their harassers.

Suresh Bhat Bakrabail, an activist who keeps a record of communal incidents in the DK and Udupi, noted that there is a spike in communal incidents, especially moral policing, since last few months. Given the timing of such incidents, he said it looks like the incidents are intended to build pressure on the government to bring in a law against 'Love Jihad' on lines of Uttar Pradesh and Gujarat. "The government also needs some excuse to bring in such a law," he alleged.

A senior police officer who did not wished to be named, termed the spike incidents as a disturbing trend but maintained that they cannot do much unless there is a complaint.

ENS @ Kochi

FORMER state police chief Loknath Behera has found himself in an embarrassing situation with a fresh set of documents showing how he allegedly helped self-styled antique dealer Monson Mavunkal get protection for his house at Kaloor in Kochi.

Behera, who is now the Managing Director of Kochi Metro, has been under pressure over his alleged links with Monson after a few pictures of him at his 'museum' went viral on social media. It has been alleged that Behera ordered for the protection of Monson's house despite being aware of his suspected activities.

The documents reveal that a letter was issued on behalf of Behera in June 2019 to ADGP (Intelligence) and district police chief, Kochi city, to do the needful for ensuring protection to Monson's house and its premises through periodic monitoring.

Ironically, the letter was issued by the state police chief's office a few weeks after Behera ordered an intelligence-wing inquiry against Monson. It was based on a source-based internal note, which had said his activities were suspicious. However, when contacted, Behera denied any wrongdoings in writing the letter.

GULAB DESTROYS 1.56 LAKH ACRES OF STANDING CROPS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Vijayawada/Srikakulam

THE rains triggered by Cyclone Gulab caused damage to more than 1.56 lakh acres of various standing crops in six districts of the State while the death arising out of the rains rose to three with another death reported from Visakhapatnam on Tuesday.

Agriculture minister K Kanna Babu said the three North Andhra districts of Visakhapatnam, Vizianagaram and Srikakulam and also the twin Godavari districts and Krishna bore the brunt of the cyclone. As per the preliminary estimates, crops in an extent of 1,56,756 acres was damaged in 169 mandals of the State and around 6,800 farmers have suffered losses.

Ekalavya Colony in Pendurti, Visakhapatnam, is still under water

Kanna Babu said paddy crop was the worst affected followed by maize and other crops. Besides agriculture crops, horticulture crops to an extent of 7,207 acres have suffered damage. Kanna Babu said officials have been appointed to oversee the final enumeration and the district collectors have been directed to hold Agri-Advisory Committee meetings to discuss the crop loss. ₹₹As instructed by the Chief Minister, all the required measures will be taken to rescue the farmers. Even if the damage is in one acre, the government will respond and come to the aid of the farmers," he assured.

Similarly, Srikakulam also reported rains for the third consecutive days leading to water logging of low-lying areas in Vangara and Burja mandals in the district. Though the intensity of the rainfall came down by evening, flash floods from Nagavali and Suvarnamukhi has been creating tension among the riverbank and low-lying villages.

No flood threat in South Odisha with water level of rivers falling a day after cyclone Gulab triggered heavy rains disrupting communication in parts of Koraput, Gajapati and Malkangiri districts, the office of Special Relief Commissioner (SRC) on Tuesday ruled out possibility of flood in South Odisha.

HANG UP THOSE BERMUDAS, IT'S BACK TO OFFICE

It's soon going to be curtains for those partying at home. It was good times with Bermudas and flip-flops, and coffee on tap from the kitchen. But with the Covid-19 pandemic easing, work from home (WFH) is gradually winding down. In recent days, media reports are pointing to corporate groups with WFH protocols—Procter & Gamble, Wipro, HDFC, Deloitte and several banks—polishing their glass and brass, and inviting their employees back to their work stations. Most are doing it in a staggered manner. Mothers with small children and older staffers are still being allowed to stay at home. IT service provider, TCS, with over 5 lakh employees, too has called back employees, but it is working on the 25*25 model that will allow 25% to work remotely.

It also appears that the spread of new infections has been stemmed, and the much-dreaded 'third wave' has been muted, with the exception of Kerala and Mizoram. For the first time in over six months, the number of active cases has dipped below the three lakh mark, while the daily fresh cases have been controlled at about 20,000 for the last 10 days. These encouraging figures, along with the steady pace of vaccinations, have emboldened state governments to slowly open up schools and places of worship.

The WFH regime has encouraged many desperate companies to cut costs by letting go of expensive real estate. Some have adopted hybrid models that have created pools of floating 'laptop' employees. However, in the long term, it is not a permanent solution. It was adopted as a fire-fighting measure to contain the infection, and at the same time keep businesses running. There are two obvious shortcomings of working from home. First, it is entirely dependent on how dedicated an individual employee is. Supervision is minimal. If he decides to slacken and make excuses, the company suffers. Second, many jobs by their very nature require teamwork and joint consultation. Digital conferencing has become the norm, but bereft of human contact, decision-making is suffering. Companies are not run by robots, and a partial dismantling of the WFH model is indeed welcome.

DAMP SQUIB IN INDIA'S FIRECRACKER CAPITAL

Ahead of Deepavali, Sivakasi in the south of Tamil Nadu is facing an existential crisis. The capital of India's firecracker industry is reeling under myriad environment-related concerns and a potential ban on cracker sales. Over the past few years, the number of cracker manufacturing units have dwindled and workers' wages plummeted. Initially, it was child labour worries and then safety concerns that gripped Sivakasi. Several units were shut, but the remaining ones went by the rulebook with a resolve to stay afloat. In 2018, the Supreme Court disallowed the use of non-green crackers. Most units subsequently moved away from the traditional ways of manufacturing crackers that polluted the environment and began using alternate chemicals that reduced emissions to a third. They got approvals from the Petroleum & Explosives Safety Organization (PESO) for new products. However, the pandemic and a ban on bursting crackers by several states came as a big blow in 2020.

The total number of units in Sivakasi has dropped to a little over 1,000 now. However, they continue to provide direct employment to 1.5 lakh people and a few more lakhs indirectly. This year, the units have slashed their production by 35% as last year's stock is still lying unsold. But after Arvind Kejriwal imposed a ban recently in the nation's capital, the manufacturers are utterly nervous. Like last year, will other states follow suit?

The state government should ensure that all existing units are operating as per rules and producing only approved green crackers. It should also look to set up a testing facility in Sivakasi immediately to make it easier for the industry to get certification. The Centre should meanwhile evaluate the potential of the export market that is currently ruled by China. It should help Sivakasi manufacturers seek an NoC for exports via ports in Sri Lanka and Singapore. As the Virudhunagar MP rightly said, we should groom the industry to suit the world market and not let it die citing violations. It is also important to reskill youngsters employed in the industry and create alternative sustainable job opportunities for them.

The great power game over Afghanistan exposed the faultlines of India's engagements with the world, but it can also be an opportunity if the nation learns from this

CAN TALIBAN TAKEOVER REFRAME INDIAN THINKING?

P R KUMARASWAMY

Professor at JNU. Teaches contemporary Middle East there

AMIT BANDRE

In several ways, the Taliban takeover of Afghanistan can be a game-changer in India's worldview and policymaking strategies. New Delhi wants to play a role in shaping the future of that country, but no one sees any role, even a secondary one, for India. Irrespective of India's likes and dislikes, the neighbouring countries—Pakistan, Iran, China and the Central Asian republics of Tajikistan, Uzbekistan and Turkmenistan—will be mainly involved in Afghanistan and its future trajectory. Any Indian role in Afghanistan will have to be approved and coordinated with one of these countries. We can rule out Pakistan and China as potential conduits; just as India is not comfortable working with them, both will not want a role for New Delhi, at least not until they are sucked into an Afghan quagmire.

The great power game over Afghanistan exposed the faultlines of India's engagements with the world, but it can also be an opportunity if the nation learns from this. First and foremost, statecraft is not a monastery where moral righteousness prevails over all other considerations. How many nations will be ready to confront Iran over the treatment of Baha'is, Myanmar over Rohingyas or China of Uyghur Muslims? Moral high ground is good but is a costly and painful road for states. At the same time, can one ignore the challenges of inclusivity, peaceful transition, and gender and minority rights in the Taliban-ruled Afghanistan? Exclusive reliance on realism will make states greedy and unethical players who enjoy, benefit and, in the process, perpetuate the miseries of others.

Finding a balance is the real challenge, moderating the Taliban without providing legitimacy to their orthodoxy. Conditional engagement in line with national interests and ethos is the only way forward. In practical terms, this means that formal Indian diplomatic recognition will be a slow process and is conditional upon the Taliban being different and more moderate than its earlier avatar. Other incentives and opportunities can also accompany political recognition.

Two, India will have to scale up its engagement with Iran and Central Asian Republics for a role in Afghanistan. This is easier said than done. India had a roller coaster ride with Iran, at least since the outbreak of the nuclear controversy in 2003. Its willingness to forge energy security relations with Tehran—as outlined in the Delhi Declaration signed during the visit of President Mohammed Khatami in January that year—was undermined by American pressures over Iran's nuclear ambitions. In the following years, India increasingly came under American diktats and virtually stopped oil imports in 2019. Lacking foresight, India did not capitalise on the limited opportunities under the Trump administration when the Chabahar port was exempted from sanctions. Things have not improved even under the Biden administration and hence, Iran will be less eager to cooperate with India over Afghanistan, especially when China and Russia are scaling up Tehran's regional profile through political, economic and strategic investments. Iran's 15-year wait ended this September when it joined the China-sponsored Shanghai Cooperation Organisation as a full member. Thus, tangible and significant Indian assistance—shelter, food and medical and health facilities—to Afghan refugees in Iran and also to Central Asia can be a start.

Three, the decade-long Sino-Russian partnership vis-a-vis the Syrian crisis transformed when China took the lead on Afghanistan. Not prepared to return to the Soviet policies of the 1980s, Moscow is happy to play a second fiddle to Beijing. In practice, this means the former acceding to the latter's veto over any Indian role in Afghanistan. Short of the Sino-Pakistani efforts collapsing, India will find little common ground with Moscow on Afghanistan.

> India will have to scale up its engagement with Iran and Central Asian Republics for a role in Afghanistan. This is easier said than done. ... Tangible and significant Indian assistance—shelter, food and medical and health facilities—to Afghan refugees in Iran and also to Central Asia should be a start

Four, catastrophic and shameful as it is, the hasty American withdrawal from Afghanistan is a lesson for India. External assistance is not an undated blank cheque; it always has an expiry date. Friendships and alliances are predicated on shared interests and deliverables. States will have to ask: Is the price worth paying? Is it value for money? Not just the US but also India will have to ask these uncomfortable questions constantly. Irrespective of the nomenclature, partnership in international relations is never open-ended. States constantly make a cost-benefit analysis and often operate behind the backs of their friends and allies. For example, the US and Australia kept the other two Quad members—India and Japan—in the dark about AUKUS. Likewise, the French fury over the new alliance will overshadow India's strategic engagements with the US and UK.

Thus, the Afghan crisis can be an opportunity if the Ministry of External Affairs undertakes a ruthless cost-benefit analysis of India's assets and liabilities and asks some uncomfortable questions. What are the relative advantages and drawbacks of all major players in Afghanistan? How are they better placed in Afghanistan than India? What time frame does India need to become relevant in Afghanistan, and what will its interim strategy be? Can India deliver what it promises or live up to the expectations of others? Are there any like-minded countries that aspire for a role in Afghanistan but are unwanted today? And how to increase its leverage and utility vis-a-vis Iran, Russia and Central Asian republics and become relevant in their Afghan strategy?

For an effective Afghan strategy, the government should ignore the 'wisdom' of instant experts, three-plus-one elite (read three articles on a subject then write the fourth) and the pontification of ordinary minds, hardcore ideologues and perennial weathercocks that change with the wind. Rather, it should delve into institutional memory and explore and re-examine the assessments of Indian missions over the years; even if their final assessment is sometimes coloured by ideological bias or are rarely acted upon, these dispatches are professional, detailed and above all factual. It is time to look inwards for an effective outlook.

WOMEN WHO SHOULDERED CULTURE & TRADITION

MADHUSUDHANAN KALAICHELVAN

Architect, serves on the govt-instituted panel for conservation of temples in TN

The Tamil Saivite poet-saint Appar, in his Tevaram verses on Tiruvarur, records the demographics of devotees in this sacred town back in the 7th century CE. "Executor of divine commands along with celestial damsels who adorn their breasts with rare and big precious stones, devotees who worship you by right; devotees who have loosened matted locks, called maa-viratikal, Brahmins, Saivites, our God, our father in Tiruvarur in whose streets Pasupatar and Kapalikas are eminent." Saivites from various schools thronged the temple town, he sings, but heading his list however are the "celestial-like damsels". Referred to as Devaradiyar, Patiyilaar and Manikkam in inscriptions, they have been an integral part of the cultural and religious fabric of Tamil society. This matrilineal community, which had dedicated itself to selfless service in temples and carried forward the legacy of music and dance traditions, was sadly the victim of exploitation and misconception.

The once esteemed status of the Devaradiyars is highlighted by the several inscriptions recording the donations made by them as cash, gold and land to the temples they were associated with. Countless inscriptions have recorded for posterity the magnanimity of the Devaradiyars. The frequency of these inscriptions increased remarkably during the imperial Chola period.

In the sixth regnal year of Kadava ruler Kopperumchingan (c. 13th century CE), a Devadasi by name Aramudaiyar, associated with the Siva temple at Tiruvennainallur, converted a copper pot donated by Tirumalai Alagiyan, son of another Devadasi and made a bell, an incense brazier, a chain lamp and a plate for waving light. Devaradiyars often donated cattle to be raised in the temple to procure oil and ghee to light lamps. During Chola ruler Rajadhiraja's time (c. 11th century CE), Chathuran Chathuri, a Devaradiyar employed at the Tiruvotriyur Siva temple, gifted 95 sheep to burn a perpetual lamp. Incidentally, she was married to a certain Nagan Perungadan. Similarly, Viragangan, son of Pichiyar, a Devaradiyar employed at the Siva temple of Tiruppulivanam, donated 64 cows and two bulls to ensure a specific quantity of ghee to be given to the temple for burning two perpetual lamps. Apart from ghee and oil to burn lamps, cows were also donated to procure milk for the abhishekam of the deity. During Vikrama Chola's period (c. 12th century CE), a Madavan Tavamseydal alias Pukkaturai Vallabha Manikkam donated a certain breed of cow that would yield five naali of milk for the abhishekam of Mahalingaswamy at Tiruvidaimarudur.

That Devaradiyars were treated as employees of the temple is clear from inscriptions that mention their salary and in some cases allocation of residences amidst the potters and weavers, who were also employed there. Devaradiyars also contributed to the construction and repair of pillared halls and compound walls of temples. In the 14th century, under Sambuvaraiyar rule, Kadali, daughter of Amarapathykathal and granddaughter of Samba, constructed the dance hall in the temple of Siva as Tadakapureeshwarar in Vandavasi village. During the reign of Vikrama Pandya, Vadivudai Mangai, daughter of Maragatha Perumal, repaired the pinnacle stone, beam and roof slabs of a mandapam in the temple of Kannishwara. Donation of gardens, and setting up of corpus deposits to maintain them and pay the gardeners were also undertaken by the Devadasis.

> Countless inscriptions have recorded for posterity the magnanimity of the Devaradiyars or Devadasis. The frequency of these inscriptions increased remarkably during the imperial Chola period. Epigraphic records throw light on their financial potential to buy and donate agricultural lands and fund restoration of temples and temple tanks

An inscription from the seventh regnal year of Kopperumchingan in the Nataraja temple at Chidambaram records an order to inscribe on temple walls, the gift of a flower garden purchased for providing flowers to the Goddess Thirukamakottam Udaiya Periyanachiyar. This was done by two Devaradiyars. An amount was contributed for the purchase of land and the maintenance of two servants to look after the garden.

Apart from the daily chores of singing and dancing as a part of the ritual services, the Devadasis cleaned the temples and decorated them. They also carried food offerings from the temple kitchen and also the umbrella and whisks of the deity during processions. Sometimes engaged in charge of the temple treasury, they also washed and cleaned the silk robes of the deity. In several instances, epigraphic records throw light on their financial potential to buy and donate agricultural lands and fund restoration of temples and temple tanks.

A very touching account is from Jambunatha Siva temple at Jambai, near Tirukovilur. It narrates the act of Atkondan, who offered himself for the sacrifice ritual for the construction of the dance hall of the temple. Atkondan was the younger brother of Petrazhvi, the Devaradiyar of the temple. In return, a gift of tax-free land of 150 kuzhi was given to Annamali, the younger brother of Atkondan.

From donations to land gifts and dedicated selfless service to literally offering one's own self, the community of Devaradiyars have played a significant role in the functioning of the temples of Tamil Nadu. Thanks to the Devaradiyars, temples managed to flourish as centres of performing arts. The history of any ancient temple is unfinished without a mention of these noble souls. With changing times, social and administrative reforms, and loss of royal patronage, they might have disappeared from the payrolls of temples, but the temple corridors across the Tamil country stand silent sentinels to the contributions of the Devaradiyars.

Another blow to Congress

This is with reference to Anwar mediation fails, Sudheeran quits AICC too (Sep 28). After the Punjab drama, it is now the Kerala party unit's turn to face the anger of a disgruntled senior leader. V M Sudheeran was unhappy with the functioning of the state leadership, which had been revamped after the party's drubbing in the recently concluded Assembly polls.

Dr George Jacob, Kochi

Infighting continues

There seems to be no end in sight to the internal squabbles in the Congress. The high command has failed miserably in reining in the leaders. Groupism and infighting persist in the Kerala Congress unit. The party's already plunging fortunes will nosedive even further unless there is a change in the top leadership, which doesn't seem to be coming anytime soon. For now it's a quagmire that the grand old party is caught in and only time will tell how it's going to come out of it.

Alliances against peace

Of late, an Australia-England-US axis has been formed, much to the chagrin of France and China. The former has strongly expressed its displeasure as this undercut its deal with Australia. Similarly, the China-Pakistan axis is very much in the news now due to the developments in Afghanistan. What is worrying is that Russia is hobnobbing with the latter axis. These are reminiscent of the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis before World War 2. The alliances, formal and informal, have been formed with no concern for global peace.

Sad but inevitable

This is with reference to the front-page announcement We will see you online at www.edexlive.com (Sep 27). On Monday mornings, I used to first turn to the 'English Blues' column by Albert P Rayan. I have immensely benefited from his weekly articles and improved my English writing. So the news came as a great disappointment. Though the digital version of Edex is not a substitute for the print edition that is easy to read at any time, we understand that this has become inevitable in this growing digital age as the young have easily adapted to online platforms. We are anxious to see Edex in regional languages, which you have announced will be offered.

Monitor source of funds

It is astonishing to learn that around 500 new political parties have been registered in the past two-and-a-half years (Sep 26). Many of them are caste-based and their sole agenda is to divide society. It is the need of the hour to enact stringent laws to curb the creation of new political parties and more importantly, monitor their source of funds vigorously.

No trophies despite his runs

This is with reference to Kohli first Indian to hit 10,000 runs in T20 (Sep 27). Kohli's class as a batsman has never been in question. But unfortunately the track record of RCB, the team that he captains, is inconsistent and it has never won the IPL despite having world-class players.

Capt in Delhi, denies plan to meet BJP brass

Some of the MLA sulking after being denied berth in the Channi cabinet are said to be in touch with the former CM

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

Amarinder Singh arrives at Kapurthala House in Delhi; Punjab minister Razia Sultana, who quit in support of Sidhu | PTI

THE change of guard has not settled the dissension within the Punjab Congress. The MLAs left out in the cabinet expansion are now weighing their political options and some of them are reportedly in touch with former chief minister Captain Amarinder Singh, who reached Delhi on Tuesday amid a strong buzz that he was likely to meet Union minister Amit Shah and BJP president JP Nadda.

This is Amarinder's first visit to the national capital after he resigned as CM on September 18. Amarinder, who had announced after resigning that he was keeping his political options open and that he was talking to his friends before deciding on his future course of action, is expected to stay in Delhi for two days. He is expected to visit Congress president Sonia Gandhi and may also meet other political leaders, including Shah and Nadda, though there was no confirmation regarding these meetings from either side.

The former CM, in fact, denied that would be meeting any political leaders and said the media was "unnecessarily indulging in speculation". "I will go to my former official residence collect my belongings, and return to Punjab tomorrow. I am not meeting any politician, I am just here to vacate my home," he said.

Earlier, his media adviser Raveen Thukral tweeted, "Too much is being read into @capt_amarinder's visit to Delhi. He's on a personal visit, during which he'll meet some friends and also vacate Kapurthala House for the new CM. No need for unnecessary speculation."

While the veteran is yet to reveal his cards, party sources in Punjab said some of the legislators from Doaba and Majha regions of the state are in contact with Amarinder.

"Already regrouping had begun in the party, but lack of clarity amid the fast-changing political equations has made the choices difficult. Hence, the MLAs are keenly watching all the unfolding developments before taking any final decision. A clear picture is expected to emerge by the end of next month," said an MLA.

Sources said the grand old party hoped to end factionalism in the state unit by "unceremoniously" removing Amarinder but the move ended up creating three power centres within the party.

Employability test for management and engg students

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @new Delhi

IN a first, the country's technical education regulator is set to carry out the mid-course assessment of learning levels and employability of engineering and management students studying in institutes affiliated under it. The move is the latest in line to improve the quality of teaching-learning in technical institutes.

Sources in the All-India Council of Technical Education (AICTE) told TNIE that the Student Learning Assessment project, to be started from this academic session, will test management students on skills like ability in planning and managing financial, human and physical resources.

For engineering students, the skills tested will be in new areas such as blockchain technology and artificial intelligence, core engineering knowledge, and basic knowledge of maths, physics and chemistry.

"In addition, analytical and social abilities of students from both backgrounds will also be measured. The idea is to assess whether what engineering and management students are being taught is making them employable and what are their learning standards," a senior AICTE official said.

"We are also looking forward to addressing any concerns and gaps that may be found during the assessment exercise," the official added.

The scheme is set to be implemented online and will evaluate students in various years of the two courses.

The launch of the scheme comes in the backdrop of the release of India Skills Report 2021 by various government and private agencies, including AICTE, which showed that employability of India's youth has decreased to 45.9% with the percentage of highest employable talent in the age group of 18-21 years old, at 40%.

Elevation of 'outsider' Sidhu was a bad move, say Congress leaders

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

AFTER Navjot Singh Sidhu's resignation as Punjab Congress chief, several party leaders questioned the decision to elevate him to the top post without giving him a 'cooling off' period to understand the party's ideology and having worked as a party worker.

Many leaders lamented that the whole episode would likely cost the party in the upcoming assembly elections. "Sidhu joined the party after trying his luck in the BJP. He was also in talks with the AAP and his elevation as Punjab Congress chief by sidelining Amarinder Singh in a short span has sent a wrong message to our ground workers. The turn of events in the last few days has hurt the party's chances," said a senior leader.

Vibhakar Shastri, political advisor to party general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra and grandson of former prime minister Lal Bahadur Shastri, said outsiders coming from other parties should not be given such an important position too soon. "The party should give a cooling off period of at least fiveyears to those leaders who have come from other parties so that they can work for the organisation and know the ideology. No person should be more than a particular party and ideology," said Shastri.

Taking a dig at Sidhu who has been associated with comedy shows, Congress leader Alka Lamba tweeted, "Now let him do a full time comedy show. His time is over in Politics. Enough."

"We changed the CM, appointed him PCC chief and did everything as per his (Sidhu's) demands. Only God can make someone happy after this. If he had any problem in terms of cabinet expansion, he should have talked to Sonia Gandhi," said another Congress leader.

Jitin Prasada, former Congress leader who switched to the BJP, said it was baffling that the Congress humiliated a war veteran from a border state and then promoted those who support the division of India.

BJP takes a dig at Priyanka

Taking a swipe at Priyanka Gandhi Vadra over UP visit, state BJP tweeted: "Priyanka Vadra ji, you have come to UP at a wrong time. It was time to go to Punjab. Should a ticket for Punjab be arranged?"

'Total anarchy in Punjab Cong, Sidhu against SC chief minister'

The AAP claimed Sidhu quit as Punjab Congress chief as he "could not bear" a Scheduled Caste leader being made CM. "This shows that Navjot Singh Sidhu is against Dalits. One poor son was made chief minister. This, Sidhu could not bear. It is very sad," AAP spokesperson Saurabh Bhardwaj said. The party's Punjab co-in-charge Raghav Chadha termed it "a complete and absolute state of anarchy" in the state Congress.

Former state party chief slams 'grandstanding, breach of trust'

"It's just not cricket ! What stands compromised in this entire 'episode' is the faith reposed in the (outgoing ?) PCC President by the Congress Leadership. No amount of grand standing can justify this breach of trust placing his benefactors in a peculiar predicament," said Sunil Jakhar, former Punjab Congress chief, on Navjot Singh Sidhu's resignation, sending shockwaves in the grand old party.

'Sidhu has never been a team player'

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

WITH his latest move of resigning as the Punjab Congress president, cricketer-turned-politician Navjot Singh Sidhu has lived up to his image of being a trouble monger.

During his cricketing years, he had left the team midway during an international tour. Even after joining politics, his capricious ways continued.

"I have known this boy since his childhood and he has been a loner and can never be a team player," said Amarinder, recalling how the cricketer had deserted the Indian team in 1996 in England. "That's what his real character is."

After a public falling out with the BJP, Sidhu had in 2017 reigned from the party after 13 years. Sidhu, who first won the Lok Sabha polls from Amritsar in 2004 on a BJP ticket, had to vacate the seat in 2014 for Arun Jaitley, who lost to Amarinder.

To placate Sidhu, the BJP nominated him to the Rajya Sabha in 2016, but he resigned later that year and announced floating of a 'non-political' platform, Awaz-e-Punjab.

When in the BJP, an ambitious Sidhu also wanted the party to sever ties with the Shiromani Akali Dal as it used to contest just 23 assembly seats in Punjab as part of seat-sharing in the alliance then.

After resigning from the BJP, he send out signals that a deal with the Aam Aadmi Party had been reached but it did not materialse as the Arvind Kejriwal-led party refused to project him as its CM face.

He then joined the Congress despite Amarinder being fiercely opposed to his entry since the party brass felt that Sidhu's ability to whip up passions with his oratory in election rallies could help the party.

In 2017, Sidhu won the assembly elections from Amritsar (East) and became a cabinet minister in Amrinder government, holding the portfolio of local bodies and tourism. In 2019, his portfolio was changed to the power and renewable energy but he did not assume charge.

He was sulking as Amarinder had blamed Sidhu's 'inept' handling of local bodies department for Congress's poor performance in urban local body polls and Sidhu's wife Navjot Kaur was denied a Lok Sabha ticket.

He eventually resigned from the state cabinet but what had raised eyebrows at the time was his move to send his resignation letter to Rahul Gandhi instead of the chief minister.

'Was hesitant even as cricketer'

"HE would be the last one to put his hand up and say, 'let me do this.' He will always be hesitant if he is asked to bat out of position. He has done it, but he will always voice his opinion before doing it," said a former teammate.

He also recalled how Sidhu was always moody. He usually kept to himself in the dressing room. "You wouldn't know if he is around because he used to be the silent guy," he said.

"At the same time, during the England tour, he showed he won't tolerate if someone keeps undermining him. He has a personality which is hard to understand at times," he added. For a batsman who scored Test centuries in West Indies and Pakistan, teammates also pointed out how he would be nervous, and at times even reluctant to walk into the middle. "But once he walks in, he is determined and would put his head down and get the job done."

PROMOTION

Issue directions for reservation to disabled: SC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday directed the Centre to issue instructions at the earliest and not later than four months for giving reservation in promotions to persons with disabilities.

The order was passed on a plea filed by the central government seeking clarification with respect to its judgment in which it was declared that persons with disabilities have right to reservation in promotions.

The court said there are no ambiguities in the judgment and directed the Centre to issue instructions in terms of proviso to Section 34 of the 2016 Act for implementing reservation in promotions for persons with disabilities. The said proviso reads as, "Provided that the reservation in promotion shall be in accordance with such instructions as are issued by the appropriate Government from time to time."

A bench of Justices L Nageswara Rao, B R Gavai and Sanjiv Khanna passed the order after the petitioners argued that five years after the Act came into force, no instructions have been issued and hence implementation of reservation in promotions is being delayed.

US Dy Secy of state to visit on Oct 6-7

US Deputy Secretary of State Wendy Sherman will be on a two-day visit to India next month, the State Department said. She will visit Delhi on October 6 and 7 and hold a series of bilateral meetings and discussions with civil society members, apart from taking part in the India Ideas Summit. On October 7, she will travel to Mumbai.

Govt initiative for rabies elimination

Health minister Mansukh Mandwiya on Tuesday launched the National Action Plan for dog Mediated Rabies Elimination by 2030, even as the anti-rabies vaccine crisis in India persists. Mandwiya also said the ICMR is working to reduce the vaccine's cost. Nearly 60,000 people die of rabies globally every year and one-third of them in India.

Air India bidder set to be announced by mid-Oct

KUMAR VIKRAM @ New Delhi

THE government is likely to announce the buyer of Air India by October 15. The financial bids for the national carrier may be opened any day this week.

The Centre on September 15 received multiple financial bids for divestment of Air India. Tata Sons and industrialist Ajay Singh in his personal capacity have submitted the financial bids.

As per the sources in the aviation ministry, Tata Sons are said to be the frontrunner.

All the bids would be evaluated on various parameters and the winning bidder would be announced after approval of the Group of Ministers headed by home minister.

Earlier, the government invited bids for 100 per cent strategic disinvestment of the national carrier. It also included a 100 per cent stake in Air India Express Ltd and a 50 percent stake in Air India SATS. The last date for submission of preliminary bids was extended several times because of Covid-19 pandemic.

The A-I has continued to post loss for last many years including ₹5,348.18 crore in FY18, ₹8,556.35 crore in FY19 and ₹7,982.83 crore in FY20.

Covid containment measures extended till Oct 31

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

STRESSING the need to prevent any rise in Covid-19 cases in view of the upcoming festive season, the Centre on Tuesday extended containment measures till October 31.

The Ministry of Home Affairs pointed out that there was localised spreads of the virus in a few states and said that despite drop in overall numbers of infections, the disease continues to be a public health challenge in the country.

In a communication to chief secretaries of all states and Union Territories, Union Home Secretary Ajay Bhalla said it was critical to enforce guidelines that allow regular festivities in a cautious, safe and Covid-appropriate manner.

"Utmost vigil has to be maintained in respect of mass gathering events, so as to avoid any possibility of a surge in Covid-19 cases. Consequently, large scale gatherings in fairs, festivals; and religious events and functions may lead to afresh surge in Covid-19 cases," the communication said.

Bhalla reiterated to the states and UTs to closely monitor on a regular basis the case positivity, hospital, ICU beds occupancy of every district falling under their jurisdiction.

"The state governments and UT administrations concerned, having high positivity in their districts, should take proactive containment measures so as to effectively arrest the spike in cases and to contain the spread of transmission," he said.

The senior bureaucrat underlined the need to identify warning signs of potential surges early on and to take appropriate measures to curb the spread. "This would require a localised approach, as has been mentioned in Ministry of Health and Family Welfare advisory dated September 21."

The home secretary said there should be a continued focus on the five-fold strategy — Test-Track-Treat-Vaccination and adherence to Covid-appropriate behaviour — to safely navigate through the festive season so that cases don't rise.

The number of fresh cases was recorded below 20,000 (18,795) after 201 days on Tuesday, taking the overall tally to 3,36,97,581, while the active cases declined to 2,92,206, , the lowest in 192 days.

'India's Covid handling most efficient'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

INDIA handled the Covid-19 in the best possible manner among all other countries despite its limitations in health infrastructure and resources, home minister Amit Shah said on Tuesday, also praising authorities for handling natural calamities with great resolve during the pandemic.

Elaborating on India's "efficient" handling of the pandemic, Shah said if an analysis was done by any neutral agency, it would come to the conclusion that the country had done very well in fighting the pandemic and substantially reducing the death rate. Many countries had a tough time in dealing with the pandemic, he added.

Addressing the 17th formation day of the National Disaster Management Authority (NDMA), Shah announced that the Centre was planning to expand the 'Aapda Mitra' (Friends in Disaster) project in 350 districts across India by imparting training to citizens as first responders to any disaster.

At present, there are around 11,000 Aapda Mitra who volunteer to help others at the time of calamities, Shah said, adding the number was not enough for a huge country like India with a population of 130 crore. The pilot scheme of the project had been successfully completed in 30 districts across 25 states, Shah said.

Under the scheme, people are trained about appropriate quick response to any disaster and how to help people in distress and rescue them. Those part of the project will be provided an insurance cover and agreements are being signed with 28 states in this regard, the Union minister said.

GOA

Avertano Furtado, who was earlier a minister in the Manohar Parrikar government in Goa, joined the Congress on Tuesday. According to party sources, he is likely to contest the coming Assembly elections from Navelim.

Bhowanipore poll fight to set BJP's Bengal template

Establishing personal connect with electorate is on the party's plan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

SEEKING to put up a spirited contest against Mamata Banerjee in the Bhowanipore bypoll, the BJP plans to build a future template of its strategy in West Bengal by establishing personal connect with the electorate.

BJP state vice-president Dilip Ghosh and his successor Sukanta Majumdar consulted senior leaders on Tuesday on the future road map. With the BJP keeping away outsiders as part of a new strategy, the state leaders were told to establish personal connect with the electorate.

In line with the strategy, a BJP leader said Union minister Subhash Sarkar is leading a campaign to reach out to the electorate through letters, seeking support for party candidate Priyanka Tibrewal, who is up against the might of the Bengal chief minister.

The BJP, on the other hand, continued putting up demands to the Election Commission for taking up steps to stop the alleged instances of intimidation of its workers in the state.

On Tuesday, Union Ministers Bhupender Yadav and Anurag Thakur led a delegation to the Election Commission and sought patrol and area domination by security personnel with immediate effect. They also urged the EC to ensure that the measures were further strengthened on the day of polling.

Parties fret over date

Major political parties in West Bengal, barring the Trinamool Congress, said that the Election Commission had not taken into account the festive season when fixing the bypoll date

The BJP delegation also sought deployment of at least 40 CAPF companies or more in Bhowanipore to ensure that every booth is covered, while also seeking that the local police or their home guards or any variant thereof must not be deployed for poll duty.

The BJP also requested the Commission that Section 144 of CrPC be imposed on the day of polling (September 30). Another demand was that special attention be paid to the well-being of the persons in high rise buildings, as such areas often are targeted for intimidation by workers of the ruling Trinamool Congress.

'Chief secretary acted as servant of ruling party'

KOLKATA: The Calcutta High Court on Tuesday gave the go-ahead for the September 30 Bhowanipore bypoll, saying it did not want to interfere with the Election Commission's decision at this stage.

The court, however, severely berated Bengal chief secretary H K Dwivedi for projecting himself "more as a servant of the political party in power than a public servant" by writing to the EC seeking early by-poll to avoid a "constitutional crisis".

Fayan Sinha, the petitioner, had filed a PIL for quashing the EC's decision to hold the by-poll on account of "misleading" submissions made by the chief secretary.

Passing the order, the court recorded its "strong reservation" about the conduct of the chief secretary in writing the letter to the EC.

Taking exception to the letter, the HC said the chief secretary is a public servant, who has to discharge his duties in terms of provisions of law, whosoever may be in power.

The EC was "misled" by the letter on the Covid situation in the state being under control, as restrictions were extended up to September 30, it said. The EC was also misled about the flood situation as there had been excessive rains in the state, the court said. PTI

SC notice to Centre on post-poll violence

NEW DELHI: West Bengal has 'made out' a case for issuance of notices, the Supreme Court said on Tuesday while seeking responses from the Centre and others on the Trinamool government's appeal against the Calcutta High Court order directing court-monitored CBI probe into the heinous cases of rape and murder during the post-poll violence in the eastern state.

Pak terrorist killed, another captured

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE Army caught a Pakistani terrorist alive and shot dead another in Uri sector of Jammu and Kashmir on Tuesday following which a senior officer blamed Pakistan for supporting infiltration.

The two terrorists of Lashkar-e-Taiba had infiltrated on September 18.

General Officer Commanding (GOC) 19 Infantry Division, Major General Virendra Vats told reporters that an army patrol detected an infiltration movement along the LoC near Salamabad nallah. "There was a firefight and later we found that the infiltration group comprised six men and of which four had returned while two sneaked into this side."

Additional troops were mobilised and a search operation launched, he said.

Arms and ammunition recovered from terrorists on display in Uri on Tuesday | PTI

"After the cordon was laid, there was an exchange of gunfire between two sides. We finally zeroed-in on the nallah, approximately 800 m inside the LoC, on September 25 and in the ensuing encounter, one militant was killed the next morning. His accomplice pleaded with us to spare his life. After taking due precaution, he was taken into custody," the GOC said.

Army and intelligence officials are now questioning the terrorist who identified himself as Ali Babar Patra, 19, from Okara district in Pakistan's Punjab province. His accomplice was identified as Atiq ur Rehman alias Qari Anas from Attock district.

"The arrested militant admitted being a LeT member and revealed that he underwent 21-day training in 2019 at Khyber camp in Muzaffarbad. Afterwards, he was sent home and recalled for important task," Major General Vats said. "He also went for a refresher course in April and has given contact number of his mother."

The GOC said the infiltration attempt was made in the same area from where the Uri attackers had infiltrated in 2016.

"The movement of such a large group of people cannot take place without active complicity of Pak troops. There is Pakistani post Jabri on the other side of the LoC," he said. "It was revealed by the arrested terrorist that the group was supported from Pakistani side by three porters, who had come up to LoC with supplies."

Expanded Yogi Cabinet shows BJP nurturing leaders of backward castes

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

WISENED by the exit of OP Rajbhar's Suheldev Bharatiya Samaj Party, the BJP is focusing more on grooming the home grown leadership of various castes, especially the OBCs, MBCs and Scheduled Castes, instead of banking on others at the time of elections.

The latest expansion of the Yogi Adityanath Cabinet is a clear reflection of this ideology, as a major chunk of ministers is from the OBC-SC combine. Moreover, the exercise has broken the BJP's mould of being an urban upper caste party.

Uttar Pradesh has 24 cabinet ministers, nine MoS (independent charge) and 27 MoS. Of these, there are 27 upper castes, 23 OBCs, 8 SCs, one ST and one Muslim.

Though the BJP sealed a pre-poll alliance with NISAHD party, the cabinet expansion reflects BJP's intent to nurture the leaders of marginalised castes from within its ranks. Belying the speculation that Sanjay Nishad would find a place in the Yogi cabinet, the BJP chose it own Sangeeta Balwant Bind from Bind community as a MoS.

Similarly, despite having Apna Dal, a party of Kurmis in its fold, the appointment of Chahhtrapal Gangwar is an effort to consolidate Kurmi leadership within the party. The appointment is also seen as a move to pacify the Kurmis of Rohilkhand after the removal of Santosh Gangwar from the Modi Cabinet. The Kurmis are the second largest caste among OBCs after Yadavs.

When Apna Dal chief Anupriya Patel was made a Union minister in July, BJP MP Pankaj Choudhary, a Kurmi, also found a place in the Modi Council of Ministers.

In 2019, when OP Rahbhar of SBSP, an OBC of Rajbhar subcaste wielding significant influence in east UP, fell out, the BJP promptly promoted its own Anil Rajbhar, making him a cabinet minister of the backward class welfare department. "The BJP may not be having a Rajbhar leader of the similar appeal as that of Rajbhar, but it is making concerted efforts in that direction," said Prof AK Mishra, a political scientist.

Banks willing to promote yak rearing in Arunachal

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

YAK rearers in Arunachal Pradesh can now afford a smile, thanks to a novel initiative of the ICAR-National Research Centre on Yak.

Convinced with its proposal, the banks are showing an interest to give loans to the yak herders as well as others willing to earn a livelihood through the rearing of this bovine species.

The ICAR centre, based in Arunachal's Dirang, described the approval of its proposal by the NABARD, as "historic". "The credit plan vetted by NABARD was found to be feasible for credit support by the lead banks and has been included in the Potential Linked Credit Plans of Tawang, West Kameng and Shi Yomi districts of Arunachal," ICAR centre director Mihir Sarkar said, sounding confident that the support will promote yak husbandry and boost economic dividends for the herders.

Interested parties could avail the loan for anything related to yak such as housing for the animal, its feed, treatment, procurement. Under the scheme, a yak rearer can avail a loan up to ₹5.65 lakh.

He said an effort would be made to put in place this scheme in Ladakh where a regional centre on yak research was approved. "We are calling a meeting with the banks in our region in November where we will discuss everything," Sarkar said.

There are around 58,000 yaks in Arunachal, Sikkim, Himachal Pradesh and Ladakh. Found in Arunachal's Tawang, West Kameng and Shi Yomi districts, the yak population is said to be about 24,000.

Probe against UP officer for conversion

LUCKNOW: The Uttar Pradesh government on Tuesday ordered an inquiry by a special investigation team after a senior IAS officer was seen in some video clips at a gathering at his home where religious conversion was being allegedly discussed.

In one of the purported videos, Uttar Pradesh State Road Transport Corporation chairman Mohammed Iftikharuddin is seen sitting with a group of men, apparently clerics, and is heard saying that it is their duty to spread Islam to every home.

In a related video, the 1985-batch IAS officer is seen sitting at a gathering where another man is talking allegedly in a provocative manner about the merits of converting to Islam.

The videos were said to be taken at the camp office-cum-official residence of the official when he was the Kanpur divisional commissioner in between 2014 to 2017.

Iftikharuddin, who is currently posted in Lucknow, when confronted by a TV channel scribe first denied being present at the gathering but later admitted that he was present there. "What did I say wrong? I have been misinterpreted," he said.

Taking a serious note of the matter, the government has ordered a probe by the SIT, an official said. ENS

Prayagraj seer's favourite disciple to succeed him

LUCKNOW: Shri Panchayati Akhara Niranjani, to which late Mahant Narendra Giri belonged, has decided to anoint Balbeer Giri as his successor.

The Akhara has taken the decision to honour the last wish of late Mahant Narendra Giri, who was found hanging on September 20. Not only in the 'will' done on June 4, 2020, did the mahant declared Balbeer Giri as his successor, but he also made the same wish in his suicide note as well.

The Akhara has decided to perform the coronation of Balbeer Giri as peethhadheeshwar of Shree Muthh Baghambari Gaddi on October 5.

However, Balbeer Giri will have to get approval for all the major decisions pertaining to Muthh by 'panch parmeshwar,' a five-member administrative body. "As desired by Maharajji in his last will, we have named Balbeer Giri as his successor. He had also mentioned his decision in the suicide note and we have seen it in the video recorded by Maharaj Ji before committing suicide," said Mahant Ravindra Puri, general secretary Niranjani Akhara.

After his anointment as peethhadheeshwar of Shree Muthh Baghambari Gaddi, Balbeer Giri would also become head Mahant of Bade Hanuman temple at Sangam.

Hailing from Uttarakhand, he had left his family in 2005 taking sanyas. He was given diksha by Narendra Giri at Haridwar and is looking after the Bilkeshwar Mahadev temple there. ENS

Nitish, JD-U working silently to distance themselves from BJP in Bihar?

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ Patna

THE JD-U is said to have started working out ways silently for a change in the alliance with the BJP in Bihar. The ruling party is irked at the Centre's denial to conduct the enumeration of OBCs as part of the national census of 2021.

The growing political differences between the JD-U and BJP have put the NDA in a tight spot in Bihar. "Whenever a senior JD-U leader speaks anything on any issue, he speaks with Nitish's tacit consent. On Monday, Vijendra Yadav's reaction to the long-pending demand for a special status for Bihar speaks a lot about the growing political strain between the JD-U and BJP," a senior party leader said.

Earlier, Nitish had sought the status of a central university for Patna University from the PM, who diplomatically rejected the demand saying that all assistances would be made to help it develop itself as the University of Excellence.

Tensions between the BJP and JD-U emerged when the BJP advocated for the implementation of Uttar Pradesh model of population policy.

To this, Nitish had said: "Population can't be controlled only by enacting a law. We've seen that promoting education among girls is yielding positive results on population check."

Soon after this, political unease cropped up on the issue of Pegasus row after Nitish joined the chorus of opposition demanding a probe into it.

The BJP leaders — right from the grassroots level to the top — took Nitish's reactions in an extremely unacceptable way in the alliance.

In recent times, the differences between these two parties were also seen on the contracts awarded to the relatives of Deputy CM Tarkishore Prasad in the Nal Jal Yojna in Katihar.

TAVR successfully carried out at hospital

Transcatheter Aortic Valve Replacement, a percutaneous procedure, was successfully carried out on a 73-year-old woman at Apollo Hospitals in Guwahati. She had breathing difficulties, chest pain on exertion and easy fatigability and was admitted to the hospital. The patient was diagnosed with a critical condition of severe calcific stenosis of the aortic valve. "The only alternative was a valve replacement, so the woman was offered the advanced option of TAVR that allows intervention on patients who are unsuitable or intermediate to high risk for open-heart surgery. The advanced procedure was successfully performed. The patient recovered well without any significant peri-procedural event and was discharged after a few days in a healthy condition," said an official from the hospital.

Yuvraj foundation sets up CCU beds

YouWeCan Foundation, run by cricket icon Yuvraj Singh, has set up 50 CCU beds at Dibrugarh's Assam Medical College and Hospital in collaboration with Accenture. Funds contributed by Accenture were also used by YouWeCan Foundation to provide medical equipment, including ICU ventilators, BiPAP machines, patient monitors, ECG machines, defibrillators and oxygen cylinders. Yuvraj said given the pandemic and resultant sufferings of people, he felt an acute need to support the healthcare providers and frontline workers. "Through our #Mission1000Beds initiative, we are setting up COVID-19 critical care facilities at hospitals across the country to increase existing capacities," the former India cricketer said.

Cops search for 'Mr Natwarlal'

Police in Guwahati and Nagaon are searching for 'Mr Natwarlal' who duped people, sometimes allegedly posing as an official of the RAW as well as the MHA. Mridupaban Neog, named Mr Natwarlal by Nagaon Superintendent of Police Anand Mishra, had sold a car for `30 lakh to a man and collected the amount but did not deliver it. During a raid at his Guwahati residence, police recovered a pistol, 20 live cartridges, jewellery worth lakhs of rupees and some incriminating documents. The accused, who leads a lavish life, would take pictures with ministers and influential people to lure his prospective victims.

Coalition talks in Germany begin to form new govt

Can take weeks to thrash out details, given parties placed third, fourth hold key to tie up

BERLIN

Pressure grew for a quick start to talks on Germany's next government as newly elected lawmakers held their first meetings on Tuesday and tensions simmered in outgoing Chancellor Angela Merkel's bloc, which declined to its worst-ever result in the country's election.

The narrow winners of Sunday's parliamentary election, the centre-left Social Democrats of Olaf Scholz, underlined their hopes of a quick start to talks with the likely kingmakers in a new government. And several prominent figures in Merkel's centre-right Union bloc questioned an initial push by election loser Armin Laschet to lead a new administration.

Since neither of the traditional big parties wants to renew its outgoing 'grand coalition' of rivals, the third- and fourth-placed parties — the environmentalist Greens and the business-friendly Free Democrats — appear to hold the keys to a parliamentary majority. Leaders of those parties plan to meet each other this week to search for common ground before entertaining advances from potential suitors.

> The Greens and Free Democrats have been invited by us to hold exploratory talks with us this week already if they want
>
> Rolf Muetzenich, SD group leader

"The Greens and Free Democrats have been invited by us to hold exploratory talks with us this week already if they want," Social Democratic parliamentary group leader Rolf Muetzenich said before a gathering of his party's newly elected and outgoing lawmakers.

Scholz, the outgoing vice chancellor, said Monday that he wants a new government before Christmas if possible.

Laschet's Union bloc also is holding a meeting of its lawmakers later Tuesday, with recriminations likely after a disastrous campaign. After saying Sunday night that it would do "everything we can" to form a new administration, Laschet made clear Monday that he still hopes to lead one — but sounded more reserved, arguing that voters gave no party a mandate.

Hesse state governor Volker Bouffier said that "we have no entitlement to take government responsibility." The head of the Union's youth wing, Tilman Kuban, said that "we lost the election, period." He argued that the mandate to form a government lies with the Social Democrats, Greens and Free Democrats.

CRYPTO DEAL

Hacker helped N Korea find workaround to sanctions

NEW YORK

A prominent American cryptocurrency promoter and former hacker has pleaded guilty to advising North Korea on using virtual money to avoid international controls, a New York court said on Monday.

Virgil Griffith, who is based in Singapore, launched projects in 2018 to provide services to individuals in North Korea by developing and financing cryptocurrency structures, including cryptocurrency mining, according to the Southern District Court of New York. A ruling will be announced in January 2022.

Griffith, who faces a 20-year prison sentence, worked with others to provide cryptocurrency services and help North Korea evade sanctions, the court said.

He was arrested at Los Angeles International Airport in November 2019.

Griffith, 38, had attended a conference on blockchain and virtual currencies in Pyongyang in April that year, where he spoke about how to use both technologies "to evade sanctions," the US Justice Department said. Doing so violated US Treasury bans on "exporting any goods, services, or technology" to North Korea.

After the conference, Griffith "began formulating plans to facilitate the exchange of cryptocurrency between the DPRK and South Korea, despite knowing this violated sanctions," the Justice Department said.

Army roped in to ease fuel crisis in UK

LONDON

BRITAIN on Monday put the army on standby to help with the ongoing fuel crisis as fears over tanker driver shortages led to panic buying, leaving many of the country's pumps dry. "Limited number of military tanker drivers to be put on a state of readiness and deployed if necessary to further stabilise fuel supply chain," the Department for Business, Energy & Industrial Strategy said in a statement on Monday.

Desperate motorists queued up at fuel pumps across Britain, draining tanks, fraying tempers and prompting calls for the government to use emergency powers to give priority access to healthcare and other essential workers. The government says a lack of tanker drivers to deliver fuel and unprecedented demand is behind the crisis. The military drivers will receive specialised training before deploying if the crisis does not ease in the coming days.

"While the fuel industry expects demand will return to its normal levels in the coming days, it's right that we take this sensible, precautionary step," said Business Secretary Kwasi Kwarteng.

"If required, the deployment of military personnel will provide the supply chain with additional capacity as a temporary measure to help ease pressures caused by spikes in localised demand," he added.

Critics blame government inaction on tackling shortages of lorry drivers after Britain's departure from the European Union in January and the pandemic, which saw many foreign truckers leave the country.

As well as fuel deliveries, the shortage has led to empty supermarket shelves and raised fears about deliveries of food and toys for Christmas.

Germany's weekend election winner Olaf Scholz linked the problems directly to Brexit and said low wages in the sector could make the job less appealing.

The situation has evoked the dark days of the 1970s, when energy supply problems led to a three-day working week and fuel rationing in Britain.

PAK HOUSES 12 FOREIGN TERROR OUTFITS, SAYS U.S. REPORT

WASHINGTON

PAKISTAN is home to at least 12 groups designated as 'foreign terrorist organisations' by the US, according to the latest Congressional report on terrorism. US officials have identified Pakistan as a base of operations or target for numerous armed and non-state militant groups, the independent Congressional Research Service (CRS) said in the report.

The report, Terrorist and Other Militant Groups in Pakistan, released by the bipartisan research wing of US Congress on the eve of the historic Quad summit hosted by US President Joe Biden at the White House last week, said that these groups operating in Pakistan can be broadly categorised into five types -- globally-oriented, Afghanistan oriented, India- and Kashmir-oriented, domestically oriented, and Sectarian (anti-Shia).

CRS said according to the US State Department's Country Reports on Terrorism 2019, Pakistan has 'continued to serve as a safe haven for certain regionally focused terrorist groups,' and has 'allowed groups targeting Afghanistan ... as well as groups targeting India ...to operate from its territory'.

Pakistan's neighbours, including Afghanistan and India, and the US have long accused Islamabad of providing safe haven and support to militants.

The US State Department also noted 'modest steps' taken by Pakistan's government to counter terrorism financing and to 'restrain' some India-focused militant groups following an early 2019 terrorist attack in Jammu and Kashmir.

After Oz snub, France gets Greece as client for its warships

PARIS

FRANCE and Greece signed on Tuesday a multibillion-euro deal for Athens to buy three French warships, an accord hailed by President Emmanuel Macron as a major boost for the EU's defence ambitions.

The memorandum of understanding for the purchase of the Belharra frigates was inked less than two weeks after Paris was left reeling by Australia's cancellation of a contract to buy French submarines, in favour of a new defence pact with Britain and the US.

Macron said after meeting Greek Prime Minister Kyriakos Mitsotakis at the Elysee Palace that Greece would buy the three frigates from France to cement a deeper "strategic partnership" between the two countries to defend their shared interests in the Mediterranean. The deal marks "an audacious first step towards European strategic autonomy", Macron said. "Europeans must stop being naive" regarding geopolitical competition, Macron added, in particular as Washington increasingly takes a go-it-alone approach with regards to its EU allies. "We're being asked to take more responsibility for our protection; I believe this is a legitimate request, therefore it's up to us to do so," he said.

He called Athens' decision to buy the Belharra ships "a sign of confidence" in France's defence industry, against competition notably from the American group Lockheed Martin, according to press reports.

The deal sent a clear signal from Paris after its stinging loss this month of a multibillion-euro contract for submarines with Australia, which announced it would instead buy nuclear-powered subs from the US. The French leader has long insisted Europe needs to develop its defence capabilities and no longer be reliant on the US, even warning that NATO was undergoing "brain death".

National population shrinks to 5.45 million

Singapore's total population shrank by 4.1% to 5.45 million in June this year, largely due to a fall in non-resident numbers amidst travel restrictions, according to official figures released on Tuesday, indicating the sharpest fall since the government began collecting such data in 1970. The fall in the non-resident population was because of a decrease in foreign employment owing to travel restrictions and an uncertain economic climate. Both citizen and permanent resident (PR) populations saw year-on-year declines for the first time since 1970, said the National Population and Talent Division, which publishes the annual Population in Brief report. Specifically, the number of citizens fell by 0.7% to 3.5 million, while PR numbers dropped 6.2% to 490,000, the data revealed

US siblings under China exit ban head home

Shanghai: An American brother and sister barred from exiting China since 2018 in an apparent bid to pressure their father to return and face criminal allegations have finally left the country, Beijing and Washington confirmed on Tuesday. Neither side gave a reason for the sudden lifting of a Chinese exit ban on Victor and Cynthia Liu, but the development could add to accusations in the United States that President Joe Biden's government was engaging in "hostage diplomacy" with China. The siblings' release came shortly after the US Justice Department last Friday announced a deal to defer prosecution of felony fraud charges against Huawei executive Meng Wanzhou. A US spokesperson did not comment on the circumstances of their return.

Criminal motive suspected in Gothenburg blast

Stockholm: Criminal activity may have been behind an explosion that tore through an apartment building in Sweden's Gothenburg early Tuesday, authorities said, with 16 people injured including four seriously hurt. Emergency responders said that the blast did not look like an accident, in a country that has suffered dozens of actual or attempted bombings linked to violent criminal gangs in recent years. Ambulances, fire trucks and emergency crews swarmed the scene on Tuesday morning as thick smoke rose from the building, television images showed. "It's obvious that a crime cannot be excluded," Interior Minister Mikael Damberg told a joint press conference with Prime Minister Stefan Lofven.

Alert in Bangkok as over 70K homes inundated

BANGKOK

THAI authorities on Tuesday rushed to protect parts of Bangkok from floodwaters that have already inundated 70,000 homes and killed six persons in the country's northern and central provinces. Tropical storm Dianmu has caused flooding in 30 provinces, with the kingdom's central region the worst hit, the Thai Disaster Prevention and Mitigation Department said.

The level of the Chao Phraya River, which snakes through Bangkok after winding almost 400 km from the north, is steadily rising as authorities release water from dams further upstream. Soldiers on Tuesday set up barriers and sandbags to protect ancient archaeological ruins and landmarks as well as neighbourhoods in the old royal capital Ayutthaya, some 60 km north of Bangkok.

The Bangkok Metropolitan Administration says it is closely monitoring the Chao Phraya's water level and has water pumps and sandbags ready. "We will give people a warning if there is a sign the water level is rising and if there is a risk of flash floods," Bangkok governor Aswin Kwanmuang said on Tuesday.

An inundated field in Thailand | AFP

Bangkok officials have begun piling sandbags outside banks and other businesses near a canal in Thonglor — a shopping district and residential area popular with expats. Once dubbed the "Venice of the East", the capital is built on former marshland and rests 1.5 metres above sea level.

In the past, farmland and rice paddies in low-lying areas absorbed flood water, but the city's expansion has seen much converted into real estate.

SEX ABUSE

Kelly's conviction is closure to some, start of fight for others

NEW YORK

R&B superstar, R Kelly, known for his anthem "I Believe I Can Fly," was convicted on Monday in a sex trafficking trial after decades of avoiding criminal responsibility for numerous allegations of misconduct with young women and children.

A jury of seven men and five women found Kelly, 54, guilty of all nine counts, including racketeering, on their second day of deliberations.

Prosecutors alleged that the entourage of managers and aides who helped Kelly meet girls — and keep them obedient and quiet — amounted to a criminal enterprise.

Two people have been charged with Kelly in a separate federal case pending in Chicago.

He faces the possibility of decades in prison for crimes including violating the Mann Act, an anti-sex trafficking law that prohibits taking anyone across state lines "for any immoral purpose." Sentencing is scheduled for May 4.

For years, allegations swirled that Kelly was abusing young women and girls. They were mostly young Black women and girls. And that, say accusers and others who have called for him to face accountability, is part of what took the wheels of the criminal justice system so long to turn, finally leading to his conviction. That it did at all, they say, is also due to the efforts of Black women, unwilling to be forgotten.

R Kelly

"Black women have been in this country for a long time and ... our bodies were never ours to begin with," said Kalimah Johnson, executive director of the SASHA Center in Detroit, which provides services to sexual assault survivors.

"No one allows us to be something worthy of protection," she said. "A human that needs love, and sacredness." It's as if, she said, "there's nothing sacred about a Black woman's body."

In a 2017 study from the Georgetown Law Center on Poverty and Inequality, adults were asked about their perceptions of Black girls in comparison with white girls of the same age in terms of their needs for nurturing and protection, as well as their knowledge of adult topics like sex.

Sebi paves way for gold exchange and silver ETFs

Clears setting up platform for trading gold & a social stock exchange

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

THE board of capital markets regulator Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) has paved the way for the gold exchange and social stock exchange in the country. The Sebi board also cleared the path for introduction of silver exchange traded funds in the country after its meeting on Tuesday.

The proposed gold exchange would be a national platform for buying and selling gold in electronic form — electronic gold receipts (EGRs). It is also expected to create a national pricing structure for gold.

The EGRs will be backed by standardised physical gold, and will have trading, clearing and settlement features like any other securities.

According to a Sebi statement, the gold exchange is expected to offer a host of benefits for the value chain participants as well as for the entire gold market ecosystem such as, efficient and transparent price discovery, investment liquidity, assurance in the quality of gold, etc.

Key board decisions

- Social Stock Exchange (SSE) will be set up for fund raising by social enterprises
- Delisting of a company to be easier in case of a takeover by another
- Regulatory framework extended to transactions with shareholders having 10% or more from 20% now

The Sebi also amended its mutual fund regulations to finally allow the launch of silver exchange-traded funds in India 'with certain safeguards in line with the existing regulatory mechanism for gold ETFs."

Silver ETFs will finally be a reality 14 years after the first gold ETF was launched in 2007 by Benchmark Asset Management Company, which was later acquired by Goldman Sachs Mutual Fund.

The Sebi has approved the creation of the Social Stock Exchange (SSE) for fund raising by social enterprises. The Social Stock Exchange would be a separate segment of existing stock exchanges. Non-profit organisations as well as for-profit enterprises having social intent and impact as their primary goal could use SSE to raise funds. They will have to be engaged in one of the 15 'approved' social activities to be eligible.

The Sebi now does away with the need for the acquiring company to bring down its holding to below 75% in order to delist. If in case an open offer is triggered and the stake of the acquiring company goes past 75%, the acquirer must propose a higher price for delisting with suitable premium over open offer price if the acquirer is desirous of delisting the target company. The board also changed the definition for related party transactions to extend the scope of regulatory framework to transactions with shareholders holding 10% or more.

Future can seek nod for Reliance deal

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AMID the on-going legal dispute between e-commerce giant Amazon and Mukesh Ambani-led Reliance (RIL), the Mumbai bench of National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) on Tuesday allowed Kishore Biyani-led Future Group firms to hold meetings of its shareholders and creditors to seek approval for the sale of assets to Reliance Retail Ltd. Owing to this development, Future Retail's scrip on the BSE closed 9.98% higher at ₹51.80 on Tuesday.

According to reports, the bench also dismissed the application filed by Amazon opposing the scheme of merger of the Future group companies. Amazon had filed an application objecting to NCLT considering the scheme pending completion of its arbitration proceedings against Future Retail.

The NCLT dismissed Amazon's application on the ground that it was premature, said sources. "Given the approval given but SEBI was conditional to ongoing litigation and their outcomes, the current order of NCLT is open to challenge. The proceedings/deal itself cannot be consummated," an official from Amazon said on the condition of anonymity.

According to the sources, no prejudice is caused in conducting shareholders and creditors meetings for considering the scheme since it will be open to Amazon for raising objections when the scheme is filed for the NCLT's final approval after the shareholders and creditors give the go-ahead.

The NCLT also said that the Supreme Court had only restrained it from pronouncing the final order approving the scheme. Meanwhile, the near-bankrupt Future Group can now obtain all preparatory approvals from shareholders and creditors for its stake sales deal with reliance.

Hearing on Suraksha's bid for Jaypee Oct 26

New Delhi: The National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) on Tuesday directed to list the pleas related to the Suraksha group's bid to acquire debt-ridden realty firm Jaypee Infratech on October 26 for hearing. The matter was listed for hearing on Tuesday, however, due to paucity of time, the bench directed to list it on October 26.

'Fintech firms can check digital frauds'

Mumbai: Technology-driven fintech firms can play multiple roles in areas such as digital fraud prevention, financial inclusion and cross-border payments, said RBI Deputy Governor T Rabi Sankar. The technological innovation in finance, he said, also raises hopes of substantial efficiency gains, better customer experience and social welfare.

More number of power plants having critically low coal stocks: CEA

JONATHAN ANANDA @ Chennai

DESPITE efforts to prioritise coal shipments to thermal power plants (TPP) with critically low coal stock, data from the Central Electricity Authority (CEA) shows that the number of TPPs with less than eight days of fuel stock has only increased over the past month. Going by the most recent coal stock report released by the CEA, out of the 135 TPPs tracked by the agency, 103 TPPs had less than eight days of stock as of September 26-a steep increase from 74 on August 30.

The number of TPPs with zero days of stock left had also risen to 10 as of September 26 from just three on August 30, while TPPs with four days or less of stock rose to a whopping 88 TPPs from an already problematic 60 on August 30. These 88 plants represent 109 GW of installed power generation capacity.

Coal-fired power plants have been struggling to meet the steep rise in electricity demand witnessed over the past two months due to both monsoon-related supply disruptions in some cases and coal supplies being restricted due to non-payment of dues in others.

In fact, out of these 88 TPPs with low stock, 21 cited the regulation of supply by Coal India Ltd (CIL) due to outstanding dues as the reason for low stocks. Out of these, 10 TPPs have reported that CIL has now augmented supplies.

The continued deterioration in coal stocks comes even as the Union power and coal ministries have directed a diversion of coal supplies from TPPs with high stock to those running critically low on fuel. With several power plants shutting operations after stocks hit zero, the government had decided on August 31 to "give priority supplies to all the TPPs having critical stock level and to focus on stock liquidation from the mines having high stock level".

"Secretary (Coal) has further directed that in case of availability issue at linked mines, alternative sources be allocated for smooth running of the plant.

NOT 'MATERIAL'

Ex-employees' gratuity claims not to hit airline, says Jet Airways

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

JET Airways has stated that its staff approaching the labour department over non-payment of gratuity and other dues would not have any impact on the airline.

It added that the seeking of recovery of the gratuity dues is not 'material' for the purposes of Regulation 30 of the Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements (LODR) regulations. "Submissions have been made on behalf of the Monitoring Committee before the Labour Commissioner that on the resolution plan being approved, all claims of the employees and workmen including the gratuity dues being claimed by the employees/workmen have been admitted as part of the claims admitted and treated under resolution plan, and these claims will be settled as part of the resolution plan in accordance with the provisions of the Insolvency & Bankruptcy Code," said Jet Airways in a regulatory filing.

A hearing before the labour commissioner has been scheduled on October 8, 2021 in this regard. Jet concluded that various associations of employees and workmen have independently approached the NCLAT to oppose the approval of the resolution plan by NCLT. It added that these appeals remain pending and that no orders have yet been passed by the NCLAT. The National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT) on October 8 will hear an appeal filed by Jet Airways employees against the Kalrock-Jalan revival plan that was given a green light by Mumbai Bench of the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) in June 2021.

Govt to spend ₹1.5 L cr for roads, tunnels in J&K

ANURADHA SHUKLA @ Srinagar

WITH an eye on developing road infrastructure in Jammu and Kashmir and connecting remote areas, the centre is working on projects worth ₹1 lakh crore and is planning to invest another ₹1.50 lakh crore in next two years.

"We have had extensive meetings with businesses and locals and creating roads and tunnels are on our top priority. Currently projects worth ₹1 lakh crore is one of various tunnels and highway projects and we will be investing about ₹1.5 lakh crore to create tunnels of 30 km in J&k and another 20 km in Leh and Laddakh in next two years. This will be critical for the socio- economic turnover of the state," Nitin Gadkari, Minister of Road, Transport and Highways, said on Tuesday.

He was here to review the progress of Zojila tunnel and Z-Morh tunnel projects and has asked the authorities to complete the work before 2024 polls, almost a year ahead of deadline. "I am satisfied with the speed of the construction and have told the authorities to complete the construction of the approaching tunnels before May 2024, so that we can show that we have achieved here," Gadkari said, while addressing a press conference after inspecting work progress on Zojila and Z-Morh tunnel.

Road transport and highway minister Nitin Gadkari along with minister of state VK singh and others reviewing the progress of Zojila and Z-Morh tunnel projects

Zojila tunnel, now being developed by Megha Engineering & Infrastructure Ltd. (MEIL) after taken over by the government from the IL&FS, is a strategic project, providing all weather connectivity to the Union Territory of Ladakh. The project is worth ₹4,600 crore.

The project will provide all-weather connectivity to the Union Territory of Ladakh, which is otherwise cut off during winters. Once this tunnel completes, travelling between Ladakh and Srinagar can be possible throughout the year. The present travelling time between these cities is 3:30 hours and after the tunnel it will be 15 minutes, the minister claimed.

Z-Morh tunnel would connect Srinagar to Sonamarg during winter months, which is generally cut off from Kashmir for six months. The tunnel project is being developed at a cost of ₹2,300 crore.

Gadkari added that the government is working on many key highway projects in the region, including Leh-Srinagar highway and linking of Himachal from Leh-Laddakh.

"Once the road network is open, economy will open. Many hotels and hospitality companies have shown interest. In next five years you will see the transformation," he added.

INDONESIA PARLIAMENT COMMITTEE OKAYS BUDGET

Indonesia's parliamentary budget committee on Tuesday approved President Joko Widodo's 2022 budget with total spending of about 2,714 trillion rupiah ($190.40 billion), representing a fiscal deficit equal to 4.85% of GDP. The budget aimed to underpin an economic recovery next year with GDP slated to grow 5.2%, near the middle of a proposed 5.0%-5.5% range, committee chairman Said Abdullah announced, as the economy shakes off the impact of the coronavirus pandemic. The approved spending was slightly larger than the 2,708.7 trillion rupiah the president approved in August, while the revenue target was approved at around 1,846 trillion rupiah. The 2022 deficit is lower than the estimated 5.82% this year and the president said in his budget proposal it provided the foundation to cut the deficit to under 3% in 2023 to comply with current laws. A vote in a plenary parliamentary session is still needed, but the committee's endorsement is usually passed. Southeast Asia's largest economy pulled out of recession in the second quarter of the year.

TAIWAN

TAIWAN CENTRAL BANK SAYS CURRENCY STABLE

The Taiwan dollar's exchange rate with the US dollar has been stable this year without large fluctuations, Taiwan's central bank said on Tuesday, adding it had intervened in the market this year but at a more modest rate than last year. It planned to introduce debt consolidation measures to help reduce interest rates on consumer loans for retail debtors, as the country suffers its most protracted coronavirus outbreak so far. The move is viewed as more useful than cutting the rate ceiling of those loans, at a time of high credit risk, as it would push debtors with bad credit to borrow outside the financial system, said Oramone Chantapant, deputy director at the Bank of Thailand (BOT). What will help debtors a lot is debt consolidation, which will be introduced in the middle of next month and we will also increase incentives," she said. However, cutting the rate ceiling remains a policy option, she added. In June, the government asked the BOT to review interest rates for personal loans and credit cards to ease people's interest burden.

SOUTH KOREA

SOUTH KOREA'S CENTRAL BANK TO RAISE ESG FOCUS

South Korea's central bank said on Tuesday it would raise its focus on environmental, social and governance (ESG) issues in managing its foreign currency assets and prepare guidelines to be applied to these assets going forward. To respond to growing demand for socially responsible investing, the bank will "upgrade" its asset management strategy from the current stage of investing in ESG products to applying ESG elements to all foreign currency assets, the Bank of Korea (BOK) said in a statement. The BOK has invested a total $7.12 billion of its foreign currency assets in ESG-related stocks and bonds as of end of June, with around $1.22 billion in stocks and $5.90 billion in bonds. That compares to $5.45 billion invested by end of 2020. The central bank will continue to increase its investment in ESG-related bonds and stocks, it added. The bank plans to apply negative screening - a policy that excludes investment in companies or sectors that does not meet specific ESG criteria - by utilising the MSCI ESG screened indexes Link while the BOK may also review establishing its own negative screening system within two to three years.

ED attaches ₹578 cr assets of DHFL's ex-promoters

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Enforcement Directorate has provisionally attached assets worth ₹578 crore of DHFL promoters' UK-based subsidiary Wadhawan Global Capital (UK) Ltd (WGC-UK) under the provisions of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act.

The attachment has been made in relation to a fraud case involving DHFL and Uttar Pradesh Power Corporation Limited. The attached assets are in the form of investment made by Wadhawans — Kapil Wadhawan and Dheeraj Wadhawan — through WGC-UK in UK-based companies.

The Enforcement Directorate had initiated money laundering investigation on the basis of an FIR registered by Lucknow police against some officials of Uttar Pradesh Power Corporation Ltd. (UPPCL) for investing employees provident fund money in DHFL in violation of the government's notification & directives.

In the course of its investigation, the ED found that ₹4,123 crore of General Provident Fund (GPF) and Contributory Provident Fund (CPF) money of employees of UPPCL were invested in fixed deposit schemes of DHFL in violation of regulations. As per ED statement, out of this total sum, ₹2267.90 crore of principal amounts is still outstanding.

ED also attached properties worth ₹1412 Crore of Wadhawans in Yes bank fraud case.

Experts see correction imminent as Sensex dips over 1000 points intraday

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

OWING to negative global cues, the BSE Sensex on Tuesday fell as much as 1,032 points to hit an intraday low of 59,045.53 and the Nifty 50 index touched an intraday low of 17,576.10.

According to market experts, this huge plunge indicates a correction from current level is imminent even as the two indices recovered from their intraday low. Dragged by IT, financial and telecom stocks, the 30-share index Sensex closed 410.28 points lower to settle at 59,667.60 while the 50-share index Nifty slipped 106.50 points to shut shop at 17,748.60.

"The market is witnessing a correction after a vertical rise near to the psychological levels of 18000 and 60000 for Nifty and Sensex, respectively. Brent crude is above $80 per barrel, the Dollar index is above 93.5, and the US 10-year bond yield is near to 1.5 mark. These are the multiple triggers that are pushing bulls on the backfoot after a long period of the party," said Santosh Meena, Head of Research, Swastika Investmart.

Likewise, VK Vijayakumar, Chief Investment Strategist at Geojit Financial Services, said that the rise in US 10-year bond yield is negative for emerging markets like India, particularly if this trend sustains and gathers momentum.

When bond yields rise, foreign institutional inflows shift from Indian equities to the safe haven of US bonds. A spike in US bond yields also leads to a depreciation in rupee which hurts the bottom line of companies which have borrowed in US dollar denominations. These two are big negatives for the Indian equity market. Meena added the overall trend may remain bullish but we are going to see the first meaningful correction in the market after a long time where 17250 is immediate support; below this, Nifty is vulnerable to fall towards the 16700 level.

₹6 lakh-cr digital payments made in Jan-Aug 2021: FM

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

FINANCE minister Nirmala Sitharaman has hailed India's efforts in adoption of fintech solutions informing that 355 crore digital transactions worth ₹6 lakh crore have taken place in the first eight months (January-August) of 2021.

Speaking at the The Global FinTech Fest, the finance minister said that India has the highest Fintech adoption rate of 87% as opposed to the global average rate of 64%, showing energetic participation from users, industry and the Government in the digital ecosystem. She specially highlighted the fact that the digital payments have seen a tremendous growth from ₹2 lakh crore worth of transactions in 2019 to ₹4 lakh crore in 2020.

While unveiling the UN Principles for Responsible Digital Payments at the Global Fintech Festival, Sitharaman said that India has democratised financial services and accelerated the deployment of digital public good infrastructure that promotes financial inclusion and progress towards sustainable development goals.

She said that the UN principles on digital payments have come at the right time and will serve as an important resource to all stakeholders.

INDIGO, AMERICAN AIRLINES SIGN PACT

New Delhi: US-based American Airlines has entered into a code-sharing agreement with IndiGo, which will help place the former's code on 29 of IndiGo's domestic routes and provide a convenient option for its customers arriving on the carrier's new Bengaluru and Delhi flights. It means America's customers will soon have access to 29 new routes from Bengaluru and Delhi. The codeshare, which is currently awaiting approvals of both the United States and Indian governments, is expected to begin in October this year, as American Airlines launches services between New York and Delhi on October 31.

Inzamam discharged after undergoing angioplasty

Pakistan's former captain and most capped player Inzamam-ul-Haq had to undergo an emergency angioplasty at a private hospital here after complaining of heart-related issues and breathing difficulty. PCB chairman Ramiz Raja later confirmed on social media that Inzamam has been discharged from the hospital after successfully undergoing the procedure.

COLD SHOULDER AFTER KOHLI'S SHOULDER

Ishan's exclusion from Mumbai XI against Punjab leaves him on slippery ground even if India have no plans to change WC squad for now

VIVEK KRISHNAN @Chennai

Virat Kohli with Ishan Kishan at the end of Mumbai vs Bangalore match

Mumbai Indians' Jasprit Bumrah successfully appeals to dismiss Punjab Kings' Nicholas Pooran in Abu Dhabi | SPORTZPICS

JUST moments after Mumbai Indians suffered a comprehensive defeat to Royal Challengers Bangalore on Sunday, Virat Kohli put an arm around Ishan Kishan's shoulder. He then offered a few consoling words to the sobbing youngster with the gaze of the prying television cameras for company.

Kishan had cut a disconsolate figure for a majority of Mumbai's innings that day, following another low score with the bat. He, perhaps, knew what was coming: an exclusion from the playing XI for Mumbai's encounter against Punjab Kings on Tuesday.

Since the resumption of the IPL in the United Arab Emirates (UAE), the 23-year-old has been having his travails in a below-par middle-order that is searching desperately for runs and confidence. Scores of 11, 14 and 9 from Kishan's blade have been underwhelming of course, and such returns tend to go unpunished only when your team is winning.

That luxury isn't available to Mumbai at the moment, given that they have won just one game since landing in the Middle East. The rest of the middle-order – comprising Suryakumar Yadav, Kieron Pollard, Krunal Pandya and Hardik Pandya — isn't exactly coming up with earth-shattering performances either, but the axe was always likely to fall on the Jharkhand left-hander first. In eight matches this IPL, which includes the India leg, he is averaging a paltry 13.37 with just 107 runs in eight games. It is pertinent to note that Kishan was dropped after the first five games in India too.

While a few games without runs need not necessarily be judged harshly, the upcoming T20 World Cup – with Kishan part of the 15-member India squad — dictates the current situation. In a team where there is no dearth of competition for places, it is perhaps inevitable that every innings will be viewed with a microscopic lens. While the squad was announced on September 8, the International Cricket Council (ICC) allows for further changes to be made until October 10. The changes need not be necessitated by injuries only, with selectors allowed to revise their assessments qualitatively.

It is understood that the Indian selectors don't deem it necessary to make any changes, but the possibility of another contender making a strong case in the coming days is likely to keep Kishan on tenterhooks. The southpaw must be even more frustrated by his present run considering the purple patch that he had hit in the UAE last season. Having not started the season as first choice, he forced his way into the team and made one of the middle-order spots his own by sheer weight of runs — ending the campaign as the fifth highest run-getter with 516 runs at an average of 57.33.

What Kishan's dropping has done is also give a gentle nudge to Suryakumar. The 31-year-old is averaging 17.18 this season and must be looking over his shoulder at the present moment. On Tuesday, he worryingly fell for a first-ball duck, bamboozled by a Ravi Bishnoi googly. Such a build-up is far from ideal for India's lofty aspirations at the T20 World Cup. Both Surya and Ishan are considered X-factors in the shortest format and allow India to have the kind of free-flowing approach that they desperately need to match up to the likes of England and West Indies. With a few games still left in the IPL, Kohli & Co will be casting a keen eye on how Surya and Ishan fare.

Brief scores: Punjab Kings 135/6 in 20 ovs (Markram 42; Pollard 2/8, Bumrah 2/24) lost to Mumbai Indians 137/4 in 19 ovs (Tiwary 45, Pandya 40 n.o.; Bishnoi 2/25).

RCB VS RR

TIME FOR AB TO DELIVER

Given his high standards, it has been a little strange to see AB de Villiers not get going as yet. In three games since the restart, the South African great has registered scores of 0, 12 and 11. It is no surprise then that RCB, who are so heavily dependent on de Villiers' brilliance, have lost two of the three matches in the UAE leg. If he can do so, he usually ends up elevating his team from a middling total to a match-winning one.

RR TOO DEPENDENT ON SAMSON

Sanju Samson is often berated for his inconsistency with the bat. When he is good, he is extremely good, but he also goes through long periods where he seemingly can't buy a run. So far, though, you cannot fault the Rajasthan skipper. He has been their lone contributor in the last two matches. The likes of Liam Livingstone and Evin Lewis are more than capable of doing the heavy lifting and it is time for them to stamp their authority on the league.

HARSHAL A BIG HIT

Harshal Patel's wicket-taking run is showing no signs of halting. The 30-year-old has been a honest trier on the domestic circuit for more than a decade now, but few expected the medium-pacer to have the kind of impact he is having. He is far and away the highest wicket-taker this season with 23 scalps. While he has always bowled off-cutters and exhibited clever changes of pace, it is one of those seasons where most things he is attempting are working a treat.

Kolkata continue to enjoy Arabian Knights

AYANTAN CHOWDHURY @ New Delhi

ON a sluggish Sharjah pitch, Kolkata Knight Riders handed Delhi Capitals their first loss of phase two. Put in to bat first by Eoin Morgan, Delhi managed a meagre 127/9 and while chasing, the two-time champions huffed and puffed but ultimately got over the line with three wickets and 10 balls to spare. The result does not hamper last year's runners-up too much. They remain second with 16 points from 11 games and have almost qualified for the next stage, requiring a win to make sure of their passage. But to ensure a top two finish, which gives teams two cracks at reaching the final, they need to win a couple out of their remaining three games.

A resurgent Kolkata team is one of the in-form sides of the second phase. They remain fourth but now have 10 points from 11 and have opened up a small gap over the three teams below them. The best part of their displays in the UAE has been the marked improvement in their NRR. It is the best of the remaining teams in that cluster and might prove to be the difference in the end.

Such was the slow nature of the track that none of the Delhi batters could hit a maximum in their innings. Only Steve Smith (39 off 34 balls), who replaced an injured Prithvi Shaw, and skipper Rishabh Pant (39 off 36 balls) could cross the 30-run mark. Delhi's lower middle order batters contributed only 13 runs. With Delhi's openers and bowlers stealing the show so far, the middle order has not really been exerted but the absence of Marcus Stoinis was certainly felt on Tuesday.

For Kolkata, the pick of the bowlers was Sunil Narine (2/18), who bowled with guile and full of variations, and part-time medium-pacer Venkatesh Iyer whose figures read 2/29 at the end of his quota of four overs.

The Knight Riders almost made a mess of the chase as at one stage they were toiling at 4/67 in the 11th over. Captain Morgan's dismal run with the bat continued and with a rising required run-rate, Delhi's bowlers were once again putting their team in contention for an unlikely win.

But it was the 14th and 16th over which completely changed the complexion of the game. Facing fellow Delhi player Lalit Yadav, Nitish Rana hit 20 runs which included two successive sixes. Then Narine did his part with the bat as well, swatting Kagiso Rabada for 21 runs which included two sixes.

Brief scores: Delhi Capitals 127/9 in 20 ovs (Smith 39, Pant 39; Narine 2/18, Ferguson 2/10) lost to Kolkata Knight Riders 130/7 in 18.2 ovs (Rana 36 n.o; Avesh 3/13).

Reid likely to oversee junior hockey team at World Cup

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

THE junior men's hockey team may have Graham Reid with them during the course of the World Cup in Bhubaneswar. If Reid, coach of the senior men's team, does make the trip, it's expected to be in a similar capacity to the one that Roeland Oltmans had during the 2016 junior World Cup. India won that World Cup with two 'coaches', Harendra Singh and Oltmans, sharing responsibilities.

The Australian is of course no stranger to the junior team. He is already in situ at the Sports Authority of India campus in Bengaluru, getting reacquainted with the way they play and move by being with them everyday. Saying that, he will be up to speed soon enough because he has seen the team in close quarters a number of times. With a dearth of options due to the pandemic, Reid & the senior team played a number of matches against the junior team when the former was preparing for the Olympics.

With the men's team not expected to be back in camp for at least another week or two, Reid is already overseeing the junior team with BJ Kariappa, the coach of the junior side. Even when they are back, Reid can afford to spend some time in this dual capacity as the men's team have a free calendar till the New Year. They originally had the Asian Champions Trophy later this year but Covid-19 has poured cold water over that tournament.

Reid may not be the only staffer of the senior team to be on the trip to Bhubaneswar. Considering the junior team doesn't have a full-time analytical coach as well as a trainer, it won't be a surprise if the likes of Robin Arkell (scientific advisor) and Gregg Clark (analytical coach) also travel.

There is no word yet as to whether PR Sreejesh — who travelled with Oltmans to be a goalkeeping mentor in 2016 — could also be in the travelling party. But considering the India custodian enjoys coaching youngsters, do not be surprised if he volunteers for the gig.

The WC begins on November 24 and runs til December 5.

Restructuring at SAI and TOPS for Olympic gains

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

WITH an eye on the 2024 and 2028 Olympics, the union sports ministry on Wednesday announced to restructure SAI's workforce and Target Olympic Podium Scheme (TOPS) secretariat. The move aims at strengthening the support system of sportspersons. A decision in this regard was taken during the 55th governing body meeting of the Sports Authority of India. The meeting was chaired by the union minister of youth affairs and sports Anurag Singh Thakur.

"Our emphasis is on sports science and performance management and with the restructuring, SAI will hire around 300 more scientific staff including 138 high performance analysts, 23 high performance directors, 23 sports medicine doctors, 93 physiotherapists and 104 masseurs. Further posts have been created for 50 high performance coaches at the NCOEs for targeted performance at international events, especially the Olympics," said Thakur on restructuring. The proposed restructuring will also create positions for strength and conditioning experts, performance analysts, biomechanists, psychologists, video analysts, physiologists, thereby giving athletes a holistic training opportunity. It was also decided that a number of new departments, including sports development, partnerships, policy and learning, will be inducted into TOPS for a 360 approach towards providing personalised support to elite athletes.

Acknowledging performances of athletes at the Tokyo Olympics and Paralympics, the governing body also approved a proposal to give out-of-turn promotions to five SAI coaches. Among those promoted are hockey player Savita Punia, who has been promoted from assistant coach to coach, Indian women's hockey team captain Rani Rampal, who has been promoted from coach to senior coach, Piyush Dubey has also been promoted from coach to senior coach of the men's hockey team.

Wednesday showdown

A repeat of last season's Europa final and Juventus welcoming Chelsea completes the list of intriguing matchday 2 fixtures of the Champions League. A look at Wednesday night's big matches...

JUVENTUS VS CHELSEA

After an indifferent start to the season, the Old Lady has finally found form in Serie A, winning the last two. Under the returning Max Allegri, they have struggled for rhythm and have had individuals making basic errors. So this would be quite the game to make a statement. That's easier said than done against the defending champs.

MANCHESTER UNITED VS VILLARREAL

Three losses in four games in all competitions and suddenly Ole Gunnar Solskjaer is on a sticky surface. Having got in the likes of Cristiano Ronaldo and Raphael Varane, he was expected to challenge on all fronts. A defeat against Young Boys has already left them on the backfoot.

BENFICA VS BARCELONA

This is already threatening to become a farcical season for the La Liga giants. Just sixth in the league, the Catalans, who were handed a lesson by Bayern Munich on matchday 1, need a morale-boosting victory. What may help them is they have Ansu Fati back after a long-term injury.

Sanofi shelves vaccine despite positive results

RESEARCH

PARIS : French drugmaker Sanofi said Tuesday it was shelving plans for a COVID-19 vaccine based on messenger RNA despite positive results from early stage testing.

The Paris-based company said it will continue to develop another vaccine candidate that is already undergoing late stage human trials. That vaccine, developed jointly with Britain's GlaxoSmithKline, is based on the characteristic spike protein of the virus that causes Covid.

Messenger RNA vaccines use a different technology that uses genetic information from the virus to trigger an immune response. This tech is already being used in the vaccines produced by Pfizer and Moderna.

"From a public health perspective, mRNA COVID vaccines are widely available today, and starting a placebo-controlled study in countries where vaccines are available would be extremely challenging, so it does not make sense for us to further advance our mRNA Covid vaccine into Phase 3," Sanofi said in response to questions from The AP.

Sanofi recently expanded trials of its recombinant protein vaccine to test its effectiveness as a booster dose to extend immunity for people inoculated with a variety of other vaccines. Results from that study are expected later this year.

Quantifying the food that gets junked

While billions of people cannot afford a healthy meal, millions of tonnes of food is wasted every year across the world. On the international day of awareness of food loss and waste, we take a look at global food wastage

There is similar household per capita food waste generation between developed and developing countries. This diverges from the previous narrative that the consumer food waste is higher in developed countries while in the developing world the waste is in the later stages

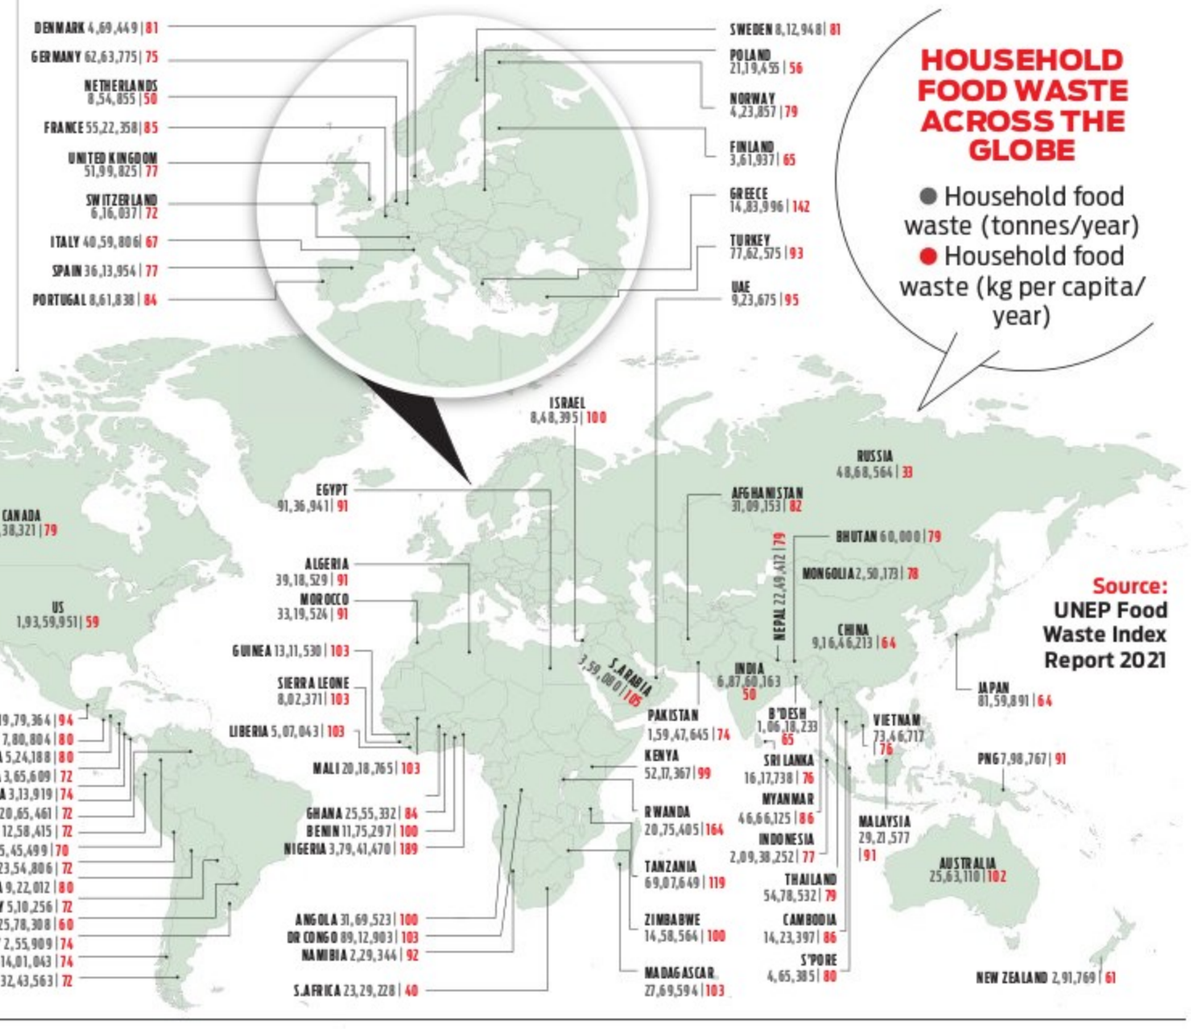
The report defines food as any substance intended for human consumption which includes edible parts like meat and inedible parts like bones. The food waste accounts for the parts that are removed from the human food supply chain and end up in landfills or digesters



Oil to remain world's top energy source: OPEC

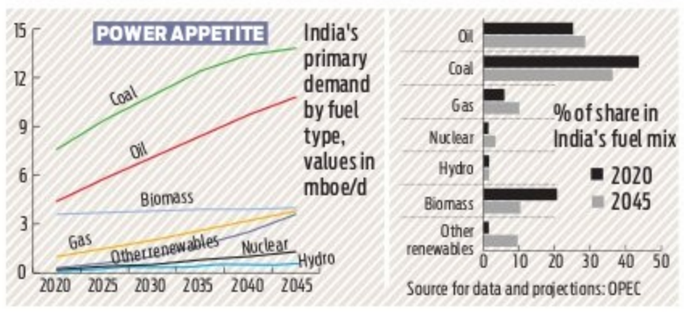
China and India's power demands will mean increased need for the fuel between 2020 and 2045, the cartel said

DATA

FRANKFURT: While acknowledging the inevitable advance of alternative energy sources and technology, OPEC said that oil will be dominate energy source for decades to come as crude prices reached three-year highs Tuesday.

In its annual World Oil Outlook, OPEC acknowledged that more electric vehicles on the road and the push for alternative and renewable energy will indeed usher in an era of declining demand for oil in rich countries.

But the energy needs of expanding economies in other parts of world means that oil will be the world's No. 1 source of energy through 2045, OPEC said Tuesday.



The long-term report from OPEC arrives as economies emerge from the most severe economic shocks from the global pandemic, snarling supply lines and creating tight supplies of nearly everything, including oil. Brent crude touched $80 per barrel on Tuesday, a three-year high. Hurricane Ida slammed into a critical port that serves as the primary support hub for the Gulf of Mexico's deepwater offshore oil and gas industry in the US, worsening the supply situation, at least temporarily.

Only coal will see less use, while other sources of energy will see increasing demand, though the share will shift to include a bigger proportion for renewables, nuclear and natural gas, according to the group.

It forecasts that the world's vehicle fleet would grow by 1.1 billion to 2.6 billion by the end of the report's time frame in 2045 — and that 500 million of those would be electric powered, or 20% of all vehicles.

Growing populations and expanding middle classes in the rest of the world including China and India will mean increased demand for oil between 2020 and 2045, although much of that increase will take place in the earlier part of that period, the report, produced by OPEC's secretariat in Vienna, said.

Oil will satisfy 28.1% of the world's energy demand by 2045, down from 30% in 2020 — but ahead of natural gas with 24.4% and coal with 17.4%. Hydroelectric, nuclear and biomass and other renewables such as wind and solar make up the rest.

A key reason cited for declining energy use in the more-developed world was demography: shrinking and aging populations that usher in lower economic growth.

FACT OF THE MATTER

mRNA flu shot trial launched

MEDICINE

Pfizer said it had begun a clinical trial to test an influenza vaccine designed with the same mRNA technology behind its successful Covid-19 shot. The idea is to improve on the current generation of flu vaccines that have an efficacy of 40-60% against a disease that can cause up to 650,000 deaths a year. The early stage study will recruit more than 600 Americans aged 65 to 85, as per a company statement and a government website listing the trial. Pfizer wants to compare the safety and level of immune response of a single, double and quadruple strain mRNA vaccine at different dosage levels versus a conventional, licensed quadruple strain vaccine.

Japan ends virus curbs

HEALTH

Japan's government announced Tuesday that the coronavirus state of emergency will end this week to help rejuvenate the economy as infections slow. Prime Minister Yoshihide Suga said the emergency will end Thursday and virus restrictions will be eased gradually "in order to resume daily lives despite the presence of the virus." He said the government will create more temporary COVID-19 treatment facilities and continue vaccinations to prepare for any future resurgence. "Our fight against the coronavirus is now entering a new phase. Finally, we can see social and economic activities starting to normalise."

PARTY DRUGS IN RIVER HARM FISH

High levels of illegal drugs have been found in a river running through Britain's Glastonbury music festival site, endangering a rare species of fish and other wildlife, scientists said on Tuesday. The levels of cocaine and MDMA -- known as ecstasy -- detected in the water were so high, experts said, they could be harming wildlife downstream in Whitelake River that runs through the festival grounds. Samples taken from the river in 2019, when more than 200,000 people thronged the five-day summer festival in Somerset, southwest England, found MDMA concentrations were four times higher the week after the festival. The damagingly high levels of cocaine in the water in particular had risen to levels that interfere with life cycles of the European eel.

30 yrs of blah blah blah: Greta

CLIMATE

MILAN: Youth climate activists Vanessa Nakate and Greta Thunberg chastised global leaders Tuesday for failing to meet funding pledges to help poor nations adapt to a warming Earth and for delivering too much "blah blah blah" as climate change wreaks havoc around the world.

Four hundred climate activists from 180 countries were invited to Italy's financial capital for a three-day Youth4Climate summit that will send its recommendations to a major United Nations climate summit in Glasgow, Scotland, that begins on Oct. 31. But participants are demanding more accountability from leaders and a bigger official role for young people.

"They invite cherry-picked young people to pretend they are listening to us," Thunberg said. "But they are not. They are clearly not listening to us. Just look at the numbers. Emissions are still rising. The science doesn't lie."

"Leaders like to say, 'We can do it.' They obviously don't mean it. But we do," the Swedish activist said.

Nakate, a 24-year-old activist from Uganda, said pledges of 100 billion euros a year to help countries particularly vulnerable to the impacts of climate change have not materialized, even as wildfires in California and Greece and floods in Germany and Belgium show that "loss and damage is now possible everywhere."

"In fact, funds were promised by 2020, and we are still waiting," she said. "No more empty conferences. It's time to show us the money. It's time, it's time, it's time." Nakate dramatically underlined how climate change is affecting Africa.

Just last week, she said she saw police taking away a body that had been washed away by violent storms in the Ugandan capital of Kampala, while others searched for more victims. Her mother told her that one man dragged off by the water had been trying to protect the goods he was selling. Nakate collapsed in tears after her emotional speech.

IF there's one campaign that has been making heads turn in recent times, it's the MAC Cosmetics' one. More so, because it features Bengaluru girl Prarthana Jagan, who makes a bold statement about vitiligo. Jagan's face is now part of the new campaign along with brand ambassador and Bollywood actor Bhumi Pednekar.

The journey has been far from easy for 24-year-old Jagan, who is trying to break the glass ceiling in the world of modelling. At the age of 20, she made her first stop at Prasad Bidapa Model Management and by the next year, she was signed on by a modelling agency in Delhi.

The 'vitiligo model' as she's often referred to, is unperturbed by stray comments around her condition. "I, honestly, don't mind that tag. At the end of the day, it's who I am... vitiligo is just one of my characteristics that perhaps sets me apart from others," she says oozing with confidence. "Canadian fashion model Winnie Harlow changed that notion for the world when she joined America's Next Top Model as a contestant in 2014. So by the time I came into the industry, there was more acceptance and opportunities for work," says Jagan, who studied at The Frank Anthony Public School, and completed her engineering from Ramaiah Institute Of Technology in 2020.

While shooting for MAC, Jagan got to meet the other faces featured in the campaign — makeup artists Sukhmani Suri and Navreet Josan, YouTube star Ankush Bahuguna and transgender model Anjali Lama. "Pednekar's part was shot separately. But it still feels good to have been a part of this," says Jagan, who also works as a content and marketing strategist for a cosmetics company in Bengaluru.

Having been featured in jewellers advertisements and editorials, Jagan isn't considering taking up modelling as a full-time career. "I've been modelling since college and it's become a side hustle now. I like to multitask. That's why I create content online, and work with various brands which keep my creative juices flowing," she says, adding that Bengaluru has fewer opportunities compared to other cities. "I usually get flown to these places for projects but Bengaluru has very few gigs like that. You can build your contacts and talk to as many people out there, but if you want to get paid for your work, other cities are better."

Jagan is very clear about where she sees herself in the next five years, "hustling harder than ever before to make it to a 30 under 30 category. "This has been on my vision board for as long as I can remember. I want to do everything that will help me get there; we'll see what happens after that," she says.

> I honestly don't mind the 'vitiligo model' tag. At the end of the day, it's who I am... vitiligo is just one of my characteristcs that perhaps sets me apart from others

Lifestyle coach Wanita Ashok now focuses on multi-dimensional skills training

Post the second wave, there's a change in fitness mantra with sleep patterns, diet, and strength training having taken precedence

WARMING UP

SANATH PRASAD

THE pandemic has brought about several changes, including the way coaches are approaching ways to keep fit. While exercise, diet and sleep (in that order) were the top 3 ways to stay healthy, coaches are now focusing on those, albeit in reverse order. So, sleep patterns, diet, and strength training have taken precedence post the second wave of the Covid-19 pandemic.

According to fitness coaches, the second wave of the pandemic has opened doors to a host of health issues, including insomnia, laziness, weight gain, joint pain, among others which demands a more systematic and strict fitness routine. For those who have recovered from Covid, coaches are advising clients to take it slow.

Rakesh HK, founder and managing director of WE Fitness, Health and Wellness Centre, believes that working from home is leading to disturbed sleep hours.

"A lot of people are experiencing excess sleep which is leading to food cravings, hormonal imbalance, all of which ultimately result in increased toxins. Body weight exercises like squats, lunges, slow walking, push-and-pull, twist-and-turn are reinforced during the fitness sessions... all of this helps them get back in shape," says Rakesh, who has noticed that people have low energy levels on the whole and are quitting recreational activities like badminton and tennis.

Wanitha Ashok, Fit India Ambassador and Bengaluru-based health and lifestyle coach, finds that people aren't returning to exercise sessions post the pandemic. "Laziness has taken over. People have become comfortable and I see a laid-back approach. Fitness levels have dropped," says Ashok, adding that mind and body workouts along with skill-based cardio improve the quality of day-to-day life. "The training module is now focused mostly on multi-dimensional skills training, including neuro-muscular integrity, balance, coordination, mental agility, physical agility.

Belly fat issues seem to be a common problem, but there is no spot reduction," says Ashok, who suggests slow cardio practises for those who have recovered from the virus.

According to Vinay Kumar, a city-based independent fitness coach, people are confined to their homes and worry about going to gyms in light of the looming third wave. "My trainees are hardly coming to gyms and fitness studios fearing the possible third wave. A lot of people prefer body weight and balancing exercises and choose to do it at home," says Kumar.

Sindhu Jain, a homemaker and fitness enthusiast, says, "After getting infected from Covid-19 in December, my body did not respond to my usual fitness routine. However, I managed to get back to normalcy only after I started doing slow cardio, strength training and eating a balanced diet which was mostly home-cooked food."

EKA PADA NIRALAMBA NAVASANA

(ONE LEGGED SUPPORTED BOAT POSE)

In Sanskrit, 'eka' means one, 'pada' means foot, 'nira' means without, 'lamba' means support, 'nava' means boat and 'asana' means pose. It is a basic seated asana that strengthens the abdominal muscles. The best way to lose belly fat and tone the abdominal muscles is to engage in core strengthening exercises. This is a modified variation of the classic Naukasana (Boat Pose). This pose will help you build core strength and cultivate self-awareness.

STEPS

- Sit on the floor in Dandasana (Staff Pose).
- Inhale and lift your right leg up. Keep your toes perpendicular to your forehead.
- Then, bend your left knee and place your left heel on the floor.
- If possible, lift your left foot off the floor.
- Now, extend both your arms forward and keep your spine straight.
- Gaze be at your toes and keep your neck soft. Try to stay in this pose for 3 to 6 long breaths.
- Repeat the sequence keeping your left leg straight for the same amount of time.
- To come out of the pose, bring your leg down and rest in Dandasana.

BENEFITS

- If you practise this asana regularly, it will help reduce belly fat.
- Regular practise helps massage internal organs of abdomen, which improves digestion.
- This asana is more helpful to improve blood circulation.
- This also helps strengthen the spine and core muscles.
- Regular practise of this asana helps strengthen the leg muscles.

LIMITATIONS

- People suffering from high or low blood pressure, hernia, arthritis, should avoid practising this asana.
- Those who are suffering from severe leg, neck or hip injuries, should not practise this asana.
- Pregnant women should not practise this asana.

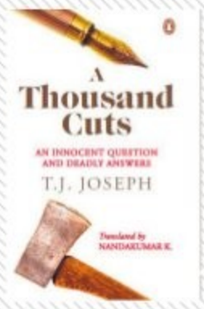
BOOK SHELF

A HOUSE FULL OF MEN

Author: Parinda Joshi

Pages: 320

A comedy drama about a dysfunctional family, A House Full of Men tells the story of Kritidhara (Kittu) Pant, a travel writer based in Lucknow, and her family's antics. Trapped in a family full of unrelenting and wacky men, Kitty goes through it all with the help of her 3 am friend, P G Wodehouse. The book features a cast of comic characters like Hridaynath Brahma Pant aka High BP, Ravishing Pant or Ravi Pant Bark Twain.

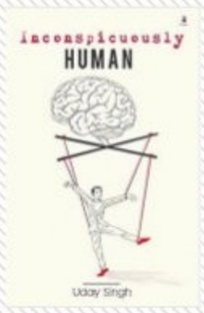


A THOUSAND CUTS

Author: T J Joseph

Pages: 312

The framing of an innocuous question in an examination sparked a tumultuous turn of events for T J Joseph, a professor of Malayalam in Newman College, Kerala. The book chronicles his ordeal as he and his family fall under the unforgiving eyes of the radical Islamist organisation, the Popular Front, and face severe consequences. The riveting tale also uncovers how Joseph was betrayed by his own church, at a time when it should have stood by him.

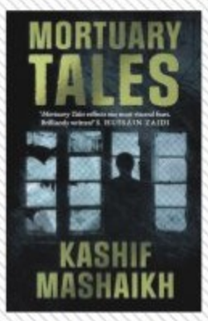


INCONSPICUOUSLY HUMAN

Author: Uday Singh

Pages: 145

Asking profound questions on the nature of the human psyche, Uday Singh tries to understand the causes as to why people and society often impose restrictions on themselves. Impositions that more often than not hinder rather than help them. The book tries to answer, or at the very least, understand why humans unknowingly and unconsciously restrict themselves and the people around them, and what motivates them to do so.



MORTUARY TALES

Author: Kashif Mashaikh

Pages: 213

Inspired by the narrative patterns of Vikram-Betaal and the Arabian Nights, the book is filled with stories of fear and the many ghosts that the mind can conjure. The story revolves around Jeevanram who works at the mortuary of a Mumbai-based hospital. As he encounters an apprentice who fears to face the reality of death and disease, Jeevanram narrates him nine dark tales that helps him understand the purpose of life and death.

'I HAVE TRIED EVERY DIET UNDER THE SUN'

TURNING PAGES

THERE is always a reason we begin something new and the only way to do it is to start from scratch. I met Luke at a point when I was tired of running in circles, the constant yo-yo of my weight, the need to stay a certain size (for the unforgiving camera). I have tried every diet under the sun, but the thing with diets is that they only work as long as you stick to the course. Once you are off, you tend to go back to square one. I repeat again: I have tried many diet plans, and I can tell you from experience, all diets work if you follow them.

What I was looking for was a plan that was personally sustainable and didn't make me feel guilty for indulging, every now and then, in my favourite kind of food. While settling on a plan, I realized my main issue (and this is a little embarrassing for me to divulge) was constipation. What puzzled me the most was that I was leading quite a disciplined lifestyle to have this gut issue. This got me to comprehend as to how I want my life to be hereafter, whether to live with it or make the right yet sustainable nutritional changes.

There is always a 'why' and a 'how' in every story. The 'why' is exactly what I mentioned, and the 'how' was an interesting discovery. A combined effort of the guidelines I was given (similar to what you are about to read in this book) and serious self-discovery.

Tamannaah Bhatia

Eliminate and Inculcate

We all have patterns. We must continue with the ones that are good, and the ones that aren't need to be loved, accepted, and then of course, ushered out the door, like an amicable breakup. Luke meets you with positivity and energy that definitely provides the first big push you need.

His constant ability to focus on the root cause of the problem anchored my journey.

The problems I struggled with had simple household remedies. Detoxification and elimination are everything when it comes to good health, good hair, weight loss, clear skin and anti-ageing. And I was introduced to oil pulling. Now I feel like I haven't brushed my teeth if I don't do oil pulling. It has become a ritual. The challenging part was to train the mind to let go and take a large chill pill so that it could help my body do an efficient job digesting food and keeping my system clean.

I met Luke after a big dietary change. I had turned vegetarian after eating meat all my life. I was prepared for a meal plan, but Luke helped rid me of my addiction to diet soda. Today, all of this is history. Now, I hate the taste of artificial sweeteners, and my cornerstone problem no longer exists. Luke has had a profound influence on how I look at nutrition and, more importantly, the life process around it.

Mantra

I often receive compliments for my skin and body. Friends and fans generally wonder: What's the big deal? She is blessed with it; actors have it easy, and they have money to access the best treatments; there is barely any hard work. I do feel blessed, but my health is purely an outcome of natural nourishment, habits, and regimen. The big discipline is to keep moving.

Exercise and yoga have been a huge part of my routine and have helped me achieve balance in life. Even though there are days when I spend long hours shooting, I make sure to cram in a little yoga or a quick circuit to keep the happy hormones flowing. Again, exercise but do not overtrain. You don't have to punish yourself; stay humble, and respect your body. Just because a person your age can do a particular workout doesn't mean you have to follow suit. You have to compete with the reflection in the mirror.

Following demand from the Students Islamic Organisation of India (SIO) to delete 'Islamophobic' content in a school book in Telangana, the state authorities on Sunday assured appropriate action while the publisher has apologised and decided to delete the objectionable photograph. The director of school education clarified that the objectionable photograph was not published in the government–prescribed text book of class 8 but in the Question Bank prepared and published by VGS Brilliant Series publication, a private firm. SIO's Telangana chapter had strong objection to the picture of a 'terrorist' showing him holding a rocket launcher in his right hand and carrying the Quran in his left hand. – IANS

Netflix acquires rights to Roald Dahl's books

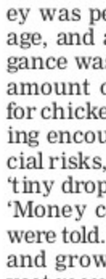
Streaming giant Netflix has got the golden ticket as it has acquired the rights to the books of the iconic writer of children's fiction, Roald Dahl The deal means the streaming giant will own creations like Charlie and the Chocolate Factory and The BFG, reports bbc.com. Netflix will control what happens to them in publishing as well as TV and film - and receive the royalties. It will also create numerous spin-off games, stage shows and other live experiences. The takeover means The Roald Dahl Story Company, which is run by the late author's grandson Luke Kelly and was previously owned by the family and other employees, will now become a division of Netflix. – IANS

CRYPTIC BITS

I'M no economist, but if one were to get a fair idea of which sector in India is going through a purple patch, one needs to only look at the sponsors for the Indian Premier League. The initial few years were sponsored by traditional businesses like real estate and poison-cola drinks. As India quickly grew in the previous decade as a dominant market for mobile technology, telecom companies carried the mantle of paying for cricketers' late-night parties.

If you've been following the history of the Indian Premier League, you'll know that the league is immune to terror attacks, the tribulations of general elections, and even a global pandemic. In the recent few years, it has been tech companies who have been sponsoring the league - fintech companies, money-wallet apps that charge you a commission for transferring your own amount to yourself, and apps that ask you to use your brain while making your nightly cricket gamble. After following the Indian Premier League for 12 years, I now treat the matches like background noise – as a marker for the four hours of the night. The matches play on in the background, as we watch them cursorily - like a crack addict finding the next hit – without any real interest or euphoria. But the one thing I notice is the proliferation of apps that deal with crypto-currency and Bitcoin.

As someone who was born in the pre-liberalisation era, money was always treated as a hush-hush subject in our childhoods. At home, we never knew how much money our parents made, and were discouraged from discussing money matters in the presence of relatives.



URBAN BOURBON
Hriday Ranjan
Writer, comedian

It was understood that money was perennially in shortage, and any sort of extravagance was accorded the same amount of respect reserved for chicken pox. Instead of being encouraged to take financial risks, we were taught that 'tiny drops maketh an ocean'. 'Money comes and goes', we were told. But 'morality comes and grows'. I do not possess vast reserves of morality, but I have let money come and go from my life.

Still lost in the world of cheques and debit cards, even a minor change in financial technology is a giant leap of resistance from me. I have no understanding of how digital currencies work. My knowledge of crypto-currency is at the same levels as my knowledge of quantum mechanics. For all I know, bitcoins could be being created by elves in secret, underground vaults.

But I wonder what happens to pocket money with digital currency! When our generation ages, we will have to swipe on a screen to give 'festival money' to our grandkids. During religious festivals, what happens to the practise of slipping in money to a shrine? Temples, mosques and churches will have to come up with 'Digital hundis' for devotees to give back to their gods.

At my age, I realise that I have probably missed the bus with crypto and bitcoins. I am comfortable with the thought, and have added digital currencies to other buses I've missed – like Action shoes with lights, and the MotoRazr. Like the drunk uncle in weddings, I would like to encourage the younger generations to continue blazing new paths. I will continue to play Ludo - Snake & Ladders, and call my mobile network provider to request a change in my callertune!

Nature and me

Dr Chitra Thrivikraman Nair's Rhythmic Retreats offers a glimpse into the English professor's thoughts and dreams

RHYTHMIC Retreats by academician and poet Dr Chitra Thrivikraman Nair explores many dimensions – including the symbiotic relationship between nature and humans and her life experiences over the years. They are her musings, written in a language of self-reflection, bordering on a personal, yet formal line.

The poetry collection contains 35 short poems. The book opens with Music of Nature where the poet explores all that she loves about nature — the snow, lightning and the rain "striking harmonious notes in our discordant existence". Many of her poems are about nature — the haunting beauty of it, the serenity of it, the unpredictability and loveliness of it. In some ways, the poet wants to become one with nature, blend into the music it has to offer "and dance to the tune of nature".

BOOK SHELF

Her dreams, her wishes and nightmares are all connected to the environment around her. She knows nature is a mother. However, in fury, she's a demon (Floods of Despair).

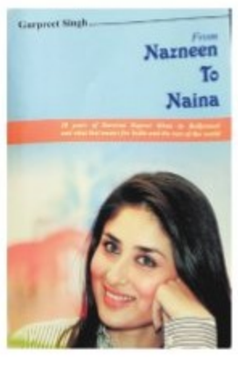
The poems also covers the world at large. In Plea to Mankind, she asks "Better not be humane humans/In this shattered world of uncertainties?". It is a naive wish for a world ahead where selfless love and goodwill are eternal doctrines.

In Dark Clouds, she confronts her lockdown days. People are confined to one place, devoid of touch and thrust into new ways of life, new rules, with danger lurking all around. "Like scenes in a horror movie/We wait for the next," she says. She is "Surrounded with prayers and lingering cries/No signs of happiness/In a world confined to silence".

Book on Kareena Kapoor's reel life out

FROM Nazneen to Naina, a book on 20 years of actor Kareena Kapoor Khan in Bollywood, was launched recently.

Authored by Canadian journalist Gurpreet Singh, the book is based on her film career. Kareena has been under constant backlash for marrying a Muslim adopting Khan as her last name, and naming two of her sons – Taimur and Jeh which have been interpreted as affront by the self-styled defenders of religion.



"This is a reflection of the growing intolerance in a toxic political environment created by those in power both within and outside the Indian film industry," said the author virtually at the book launch on Tuesday. The book talks about Kareena's work and goes into the details of her performance as an actor, and as an activist and philanthropist, trying to make connections between the present political situation and its impact on cinema.

It looks deeply into the challenges before her for being a flag bearer of secularism which is despised by the religious bigots.

Her significant screen roles, as someone who stands up against hate, have been underlined in the book, which also attempts to make a critical assessment of her position on issues, such as racism, feminism, environment and state violence. – IANS

Priyanka Thimmesh

Nagabhushan

Priyanka Thimmesh, Nagabhushan team up for Preetham Thegginamane's directorial debut

The project is bankrolled by Chamak, Ayogya, and Birbal producer T R Chandrashekar and Nanda Kishore; details of the film will be revealed once the team completes the shoot

A SHARADHAA

PRIYANKA Thimmesh, post her stint at Bigg Boss Kannada season 8, has signed up a new project. The Ganapa heroine has already started shooting for the film, and the actor is paired opposite actor Nagabhushan in the film, directed by Preetham Thegginamane.

Preetham, the cinematographer of films like Ayogya and Rathna Manjari, is making his directorial debut with the film, which is touted to be a romantic comedy. Crystal Paark Cinemas, known for producing hits like Chamak, Ayogya, and Birbal, are now collaborating with producer T R Chandrashekar and Nanda Kishore for the upcoming film.

The team will soon wrap up their first schedule. More details of the cast and the story will be revealed soon.

Nagabhushan was last seen in Ikkat - a hilarious drama that was based on the lockdown. The actor is currently awaiting the release of Badava Rascal, starring actor Dhananjay in the lead role. On the other hand, Priyanka Thimmesh is looking forward to the release of her two films - Arjun Gowda and Sugarless.

Dhananjay and team complete a hectic schedule for Head Bush

CE FEATURES

ACTOR Dhananjay, who is doubling up as the producer of his upcoming film, Head Bush, is glad about how the film has shaped up. "Agni Shridhar, the writer of Head Bush has brilliantly sketched the characters of every artiste, and it will work well for the big screen," says Dhananjay.

A 30-day schedule of the Shoonya directorial was recently canned and featured many prominent artists including Dhananjay, Paayal Rajput, Yogi, Vasishta Simha, Shruti Hariharan, Raghu Mukherjee, and Balu Nagendra. "We have done 40 days of shoot, and will be left with over 60 to 70 days to complete the rest of the shoot," says the actor-producer.

Based on Bengaluru's first prominent underworld don MP Jayaraj, Head Bush also features veteran actors Ravichandran and Devaraj in important roles. The latter will be joining the next schedule, which is planned to be held in Bengaluru and Mysuru. The film, produced under the banner Daali Pictures in association with Somanna Talkies, has Charan Raj scoring the music.

Meanwhile, Dhananjay's next focus will be on his upcoming releases, which begins with Salaga that is slated for an October 14 release. Directed by Duniya Vijay, Salaga has Dhananjay featuring in a pivotal role. The actor is also looking forward to the release of Badava Rascal, which will mark filmmaker A Shankar Guru's directorial debut. It will be Dhananjay's first production venture, and is expected to be released in November. The Tagaru actor also has Rathnan Prapancha lined up for release.

Shah Rukh Khan, Deepika Padukone to shoot a song for Pathan in Mallorca

CE FEATURES

SHAH Rukh Khan and Deepika Padukone are headed to Mallorca (in Spain) to shoot a song for Pathan. The team will be in Spain from October 10-31.

"The aim is to make Pathan a visual spectacle that no one has seen before and Siddharth Anand (director) and YRF is leaving no stone unturned to achieve this ambitious goal," said a source.

"Pathan team heads to Spain where they will be shooting in a grand destination like Mallorca, Cadiz and Vejer De La Frontera."

"No other Bollywood film has ever shot in these places so audiences, who haven't been to these expensive and exquisite places, will see them for the first time. Visually these settings will add grandeur and lavishness to the film," the source was quoted as saying.

Shah Rukh and Deepika will be presented in a never seen before manner in this song.

ATRANGI RE HEADED FOR OTT RELEASE?

CE FEATURES

RECENTLY, five of Akshay Kumar's upcoming titles — Sooryavanshi, Raksha Bandhan, Bachchan Pandey, Prithviraj and Ram Setu — announced release dates. However, there was no mention of Atrangi Re, his film with Aanand L Rai co-starring Dhanush and Sara Ali Khan. Asked about the same, Akshay told a daily that he and Aanand are still deciding if the film should go for theatrical or OTT. He also conceded that OTT looks like the medium of choice for a film like Atrangi Re. Meanwhile, a seperate report has claimed Atrangi Re will premiere on Netflix. Atrangi Re is a love story set in two timelines. The film marks Dhanush's return to Hindi cinema six years after Shamitabh. He had previously worked with Aanand L Rai in his Bollywood debut, Raanjhanaa (2013). Akshay has also shot Raksha Bandhan with Aanand, which releases on August 11, 2022. The actor's biggest title this year, Sooryavanshi, drops in theatres on October 22.

P Sheshadri's Mohandas highlights Gandhi's childhood

The film, made in Kannada, English, and Hindi, is set to release on October 1, a day before Mahatma Gandhi's 150th birth anniversary

There are many films on the Father of the Nation and his achievements, but none of them dealt with Gandhiji's childhood, which will be the highlight of Mohandas

–P Sheshadri, director

CE FEATURES

AMONG the numerous Kannada films releasing this October, the first one to hit theatres will be P Sheshadri's Mohandas. Of eleven films of Sheshadri, eight projects have won the National Awards so far. Now, the director is all set to release his next venture Mohandas on October 1, a day ahead of Mahatma Gandhi's 150th anniversary. Billed as a children's film, Mohandas is the first biopic of Sheshadri.

Based on the novel Paapu Gandhi Gandhi Bapu Aada Kathe, written by Bolwar Mahamad Kunhi, Mohandas will explore the childhood of Mahatma Gandhi. The film is made in three languages--Kannada, English, and Hindi.

Samarth Hombal is playing the role of Mohandas, and the film features well-known Bollywood actor Ananth Mahadevan as Karamchand Gandhi and Kannada actor Shruti in the role of Putlibai. The film also stars Dattanna in a pivotal role along with artistes from across Karnataka, Mumbai, and Gujarat.

"There are many films on the Father of the Nation and his achievements, but none of them dealt with Gandhiji's childhood, which will be the highlight of Mohandas," says P Sheshadri.

"The film seeks to explore how Mohandas dealt with challenges in his childhood and evolved into the Mahatma that the world remembers him as today," the director adds. The specialty of the film is that the makers have shot it in Porbandar and Rajkot - where Gandhi was born and raised. "We intend to bring authenticity to the film. However, the locations have changed drastically over the years. A great deal of effort went into recreating the ambience of the late 19th century," says the producer, who has bankrolled the film under the banner Mitra Chitra. The film has music by Praveen Godkhindi, and G S Bhaskar is handling the cinematographer

BHOOL BHULAIYAA 2 MOTION POSTER OUT

CE FEATURES

KARTIK Aaryan succeeds Akshay Kumar in the upcoming sequel to Bhool Bhulaiyaa. On Tuesday, Kartik shared the first motion poster of Bhool Bhulaiyaa 2. The actor is seen in black attire on a cloudy, full-moon night. He's seated atop an old dome, emphasizing the Lucknow setting of the new film. The Bhool Bhulaiyaa theme plays with ominous thunderclaps.

Kartik took to twitter to share the new release date of the film.

Bhool Bhulaiyaa 2 is directed by Anees Bazmee and written by Farhad Samji and Aakash Kaushik. The sequel stars Kartik along with Tabu and Kiara Advani. Actors Rajpal Yadav (who also appeared in the 2007 film) and Sanjay Mishra are also featured in the cast.

Unlike Bhool Bhulaiyaa, which was a psychological thriller, Bhool Bhulaiyaa 2 will be a pure horror film. Anees in a prior interview had shared that the sequel will have a new story and won't continue from the end of the previous film.
